ENGLAND SIGNS TRADE ACCORD WITH MOSCOW

Grants $40,000,000 in First Credit.

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 (AP).—Signing of a British-Russian commercial and economic accord, providing for a large scale exchange of goods and putting the allies' coöperation on a business basis, was officially announced tonight.

Signing of the agreement followed extension of the Russian-United States trade treaty for a year while preparations are being made for a tripower conference in Moscow to decide upon the distribution of military resources.

Communique Tells of Deal.

A communique said:

"On Aug. 16 signature took place in Moscow to an agreement on the turnover of goods, credit, and clearing between the Union Soviet Socialist Republics and England.

"The agreement provides for the supply of considerable quantities of British goods to the U. S. S. R. as well as for the supply of certain soviet goods to England.

"Under the agreement England grants the U. S. S. R. credit of 10 million pounds sterling [40 million dollars] for payment on goods at the rate of 3 per cent per annum for a mean period of five years.

"When said amount of credit is almost expired, the governments will enter negotiations for the purpose of increasing the amount of credit.

The agreement was signed on behalf of the soviet government by the people's commissar of foreign trade, A. I. Mikoyan, and for the British government by Ambassador Sir Stafford Cripps, at the Kremlin at 11 a. m. yesterday.

British Mission to Remain.

The ceremony was attended by Laurence Cadbury, chief of the British economic mission, and other members of the mission, who will remain in Moscow to oversee execution of the accord.

Observers here said they understood Britain was sending rubber, tin, wool, hides, jute, shellac and industrial diamonds in exchange for platinum, hemp, flax, manganese, glycerin, and timber.

A protocol to the agreement is being negotiated by the soviet state bank and the Bank of England.

The British mission which arranged the accord has been in Moscow since June 27, five days after the start of the German-Russian war.

MORGENTHAU VISITS CANADA IN ARMY PLANE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 17.—The United States secretary of the treasury, Henry Morgenthau Jr., arrived here during the week-end in a United States army plane en route for a "few days of fishing" at an undisclosed resort in Quebec. He declined to comment on the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting or other important matters, saying he was here on a holiday and to "spend a few American dollars." He was met by a special plane of the Royal Canadian Air force from Ottawa, Ont., and it took him to his destination. Prominent RCAF officers presented their respects to him.

Germans Call In Norway's Church Bells for War Use

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 17 (AP).—All church bells in Norway have been ordered delivered to German authorities for use "for urgent purposes of state," ostensibly war materials, the Norwegian correspondent of the newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported today. The correspondent said the order was issued by Reichscommissioner Joseph Terboven. The Germans agreed to pay for the bells and promised to replace them after the war.

All That Glitters Isn't Garters, Mr. Sutter Finds

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 17 (AP).—Public Administrator Orval C. Sutter struck gold in a pair of blue garters of the gay '90s period. He ran across them while sorting personal belongings of the late Mrs. Anna R. Menaugh. Concealed beneath the garters, still in their original box, was $140 in old goldbacked currency bills.

RUSSIA ADMITS NIKOLAEV, KEY SEA PORT, FALLS

Also Abandons Mine Area to Nazis.

MOSCOW, Aug. 18 [Monday]—(AP).—The Red army has withdrawn from Nikolaev, Black sea naval base and industrial center on the Bug river estuary, and Krivoi Rog, mining center west of the Dnieper river, the Russians announced officially early today.

Nikolaev, 60 miles northeast of Odessa, is second only to Leningrad as a soviet shipbuilding and refitting center and is a shipping point for a huge volume of grain. The communique said the vast dockyards there were blown up before the port was abandoned to the Germans.

Krivoi Rog is 100 miles northeast of Nikolaev and about the same distance southwest of the great Dnieper river hydroelectric center of Dnepropetrovsk.

Wage Stubborn Warfare.

The official announcement said the Russian withdrawals were made after stubborn battles.

[The Germans announced yesterday the capture of Nikolaev and completion of the mopping up of the Krivoi Rog mining region upon which Russia had depended heavily for her iron ore.]

Elsewhere along the long eastern front the Russians said their forces continued fierce fighting against the Germans with soviet counterattacks under way at other points in the Ukraine and on the central sector facing Moscow.

The German air force made its nightly sortie against Moscow during the night but an official announcement said the planes were dispersed before reaching the city.

In the Black sea, soviet submarines were reported to have sunk two large Rumanian transports.

At one Ukraine town, identified only as "K," the army journal Red Star said the Germans had been driven back six to eight miles with 20,000 Nazi dead and wounded littering the battlefield.

Counterattack in Center.

Red armies also counterattacked in the central sector, where Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's western forces were declared by an official communique to have destroyed a large German unit.

In the northern lakes region the Russians said the Germans were pressing a flank offensive.

Today's communique said the 452d and 485th regiments of the 262d German infantry division had been completely smashed in recent fighting in the southwest. The 262d was described as "one of the best in the German army" and a veteran of the battle of France. Other regiments of this same division, the communique said, have lost 80 per cent of their manpower and equipment and it "no longer represents any fighting value."

Still another German infantry division—the 94th—was said to have lost 70 per cent of its personnel. Five hundred officers and men of this division surrendered, the Russians announced.

In aerial fighting Saturday the Russians listed 19 German planes downed to 12 soviet craft.

MOURNED FLYER ALIVE; HE GAVE SEAT TO PURVIS

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 17 (AP).—Don Teel, 35 year old owner of the Odessa, Tex., airport and a trans-Atlantic ferry pilot, gave up his place in the transport plane which crashed in the United Kingdom on Thursday, it was disclosed today, so that the Rt. Hon. Arthur B. Purvis, one of 22 men killed, could return to Washington, D. C.

Teel's name was contained in the first casualty list of the accident received here, but later was deleted.

"I'm sure glad he gave up that seat," Mrs. Teel, who lives here with her 7 year old daughter, said today. "Mrs. Joe Mackey told me yesterday she was the happiest woman in Montreal, but she can't be. For I'm just as happy as she."

Mrs. Mackey, wife of a captain, had been informed her husband was killed in the crash. Later, she learned he was safe.

Purvis, director of the British purchasing commission in the United States, had gone to England to confer with Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply.

THERE WAS A YOUNG LADY FROM NIGER WHO WENT FOR A RIDE ON A TIGER

F. D. R. to Rule on Shipyard Seizure Today

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—Recommendations of four government agencies that the struck Kearny, N. J., yard of Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock corporation be commandeered because of the company's refusal to accept recommendations of the National Defense Mediation board were placed before President Roosevelt as he returned to Washington today. Action tomorrow was forecast by informed officials.

The agencies which have recommended the commandeering of the shipyard are the mediation board, the navy department, the Maritime commission and the Office of Production Management.

493 Million in U. S. Orders.

The huge Kearny yard, whose 16,000 employés were working on 493 million dollars' worth of naval fighting ships and maritime commission merchant vessels, has been tied up for 11 days by a strike because the company would not grant to the CIO's industrial union of marine and shipbuilding workers a union "maintenance of membership" clause under which members are required to remain in good standing as a condition of employment, but non-unionists are not forced to join.

The importance of the case was demonstrated by the fact that Adlai Stevenson, special assistant to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, who has been drafting a proposed executive order for seizure of the plant, hurried to Maine yesterday and boarded the Presidential special train a few hours after Mr. Roosevelt had debarked at Rockland from his Atlantic rendezvous with Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Mr. Stevenson's mission aboard the Presidential special was not apparent to reporters then because Stevenson was misidentified as a special assistant secretary of the treasury.

Tentative Drafts Ready.

It was assumed, however, that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Stevenson discussed the federal shipbuilding controversy which developed into a crisis after the President left Washington Aug. 3 for his sea voyage. It was believed that Mr. Stevenson, as the navy department's legal adviser, carried with him a tentative draft of an executive order to take over the Kearny yard.

It was understood that the executive order under consideration provides for seizure of the plant under the powers of the President as commander in chief of the army and navy —the same authority invoked in the North American Aviation, Inc., plant at Inglewood, Cal.—rather than leasing of the plant or some softer device as suggested by the offer last week of L. H. Korndorff, Federal Shipbuilding president, to turn the yard over to the government for "immediate possession and operation."

It was reported that the order provides for commandeering of the plant, with the navy taking technical possession, leaving unsettled such questions as whether it will be necessary to set up a separate government corporation to operate it.

BIG PRODUCTION OF OIL AS A GIFT TO BRITAIN DIPS TO MERE TRICKLE

Austin, Tex., Aug. 17 [Special].—Prospective legal complications caused today's proposed production and donation to Britain of an estimated two million barrels of crude petroleum by Texas oil operators to drop to a mere trickle, according to reports from various fields. The "gift" had been estimated to total at least five million dollars.

The plans of operators in the east Texas field to contribute more than 300,000 barrels ran afoul of the federal tender board at Kilgore which announced it would refuse to grant tenders for the movement of any gift oil because the order of the railroad commission for the voluntary donations was discriminatory and invalid.

Jerry Sadler, member of the commission, in a public statement blamed failure of the plan on a group of major companies who asserted it was impractical and illegal.

GENERAL QUOTED BY JAP: AMERICA READY TO FIGHT

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 17.—A report that the United States has completed preparations to fight Germany, attributed to Lieut. Gen. Daniel Van Voorhis, commander of the United States army in the Caribbean area and Canal Zone, evoked considerable interest here. The report was cabled to the newspaper Yomiuri by Juji Kasai, member of parliament, who is touring South America with a parliamentary delegation.

According to Kasai, Gen. Voorhis, in an alleged interview said:

"The preparations of the United States to fight Germany are now complete. We shall enter the European war before long. We have no quarrel with Japan, but we are determined to fight until Hitler is defeated. We must oppose any country that aids our enemy."

Robbers Bind Guard to Post, Then Slay Him

A veteran watchman was murdered by burglars in a west side factory last night after being tied hand and foot to a post, gagged, beaten—and probably tortured. Police described the crime as utterly wanton, without netting the killers so much as a penny.

The victim was Mitchell Hetman, 45 years old, 2523 Thomas street, married, and the father of two grown sons. The scene of his death was the furniture factory of Anton Szumny & Sons, 2130 Fulton street.

When found, Hetman was lying on the floor. His feet were bound together with quarter inch rope and tied to a post. His hands were bound with heavy twine. A towel, which partly covered his mouth as a gag, was twisted tightly around his throat. His right ear was almost severed, and cuts about the head indicated he had been clubbed.

Safe Smashed Open.

The crime was discovered at 10:15 p. m. by Hetman's relief, Frank Zajac, 52, of 1115 North Campbell avenue. Zajac found the company office in disarray. The light metal safe had been smashed open, books and other records lay scattered on the floor. Also on the floor were a rubber headed mallet, a chisel, and a blood stained pocket knife. Zajac then came across Hetman's body and called the police.

Capt. Walter McGloon, Sergt. Joseph Cassidy, Chief Deputy Coroner Anthony Prusinski, and Joseph C. Wilimovsky, ballistics expert, responded. They found the burglars had opened a rear window with a wire.

Victim Without Arms.

They reconstructed the crime thus: The thieves first overpowered Hetman, who was unarmed. They tied him to the post and then opened the safe. Angered at finding it empty they beat Hetman to the point of torture to force him to reveal where money might be. Then they half strangled him with the towel, at the same time beating him. All the time, Capt. McGloon pointed out, Hetman was helpless. The killers even turned his pockets inside out in a search for money.

The murder was committed after 5:15 p. m. His portable watchman's clock showed that was the last time he had punched it. Moreover, two Sunday employés had punched out at 5:03 p. m. and Hetman was alive then, they said. Hetman had been employed by the company for nearly 10 years. He left his widow, Mary, and two sons, Mitchell Jr., 21, and Teddy, 19.

BRITISH WONDER WHAT NEXT U. S. WAR STEP WILL BE

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Now that the press and public are practically unanimously interpreting the Roosevelt-Churchill eight point peace plan as a mask to conceal more spectacular developments, including further American participation in Britain's war effort, the question here now seems to be just what new rôle the United States is assuming in the war.

The Reynolds News said editorially that Britain would welcome Prime Minister Churchill home from his meeting with President Roosevelt in both "grim and gay anticipation that the historic meeting was a prelude to a military knockout for Hitler."

Hints At New Fronts.

The same publication interpreted the Roosevelt-Churchill message to Dictator Josef Stalin of Russia as hinting at "fighting on fronts that will develop." It asserted that despite the difficulties of direct intervention "they must be faced and the risks taken."

The weekly News Review said insiders are asserting that the United States shortly will establish a major air base in Iceland, which, it pointed out, is only 400 miles off the coast of Scotland." It added that "on such a base American aircraft might be held as a reserve force against any Nazi attempt to invade Britain, giving the RAF opportunity to throw the greater part of its strength into offensive operations over the continent."

It also suggested that "some United States observers believe that before long the Irish government will accept United States 'protection.'"

Route to Supply Russia.

There is also talk, according to the News Review, of America "opening up a new and safer route as yet untried from Alaska to Komsomolsk, Siberia" to send supplies to Russia.

The same review said "insiders are hinting of a radical change in British war strategy," abandoning the long range plans for concentrated efforts altho, it said, it is unlikely a "large scale British landing across the channel is imminent."

Beverly Baxter, member of parliament, who is going to America shortly, asserted "America and Britain at last are going to enter Europe as the guardians of the years to come. Meantime, we await the more immediate move which Roosevelt and Churchill decided upon."

Dakar Hint Discussed.

Time and Tide regarded the "Roosevelt hint—if it was a hint—about Dakar [Africa] as timely" and declared that "it would seem to suggest a German attempt to seize that port would bring America yet another step nearer belligerency."

Both Time and Tide and the Economist criticized the London Times for stating some time ago that since the United States and England could not effectively maintain peace in eastern Europe that Russia should be given this rôle.

"Prolog to Immense Drama."

The Sunday Dispatch said the Churchill-Roosevelt agreement "must be recognized as a prolog to an immense drama of action and fulfilment."

Army, navy, and air force experts of both nations did not attend the Atlantic conference, the Dispatch argued, to formulate peace aims but to discuss how victory can be achieved. It suggested that the full story of the conferences at sea must be kept secret because the axis powers, including Japan, must be kept uniformed.

The Sunday Observer declared that Japan is continuing preparations in Manchukuo and Indo-China despite the fact that the British and American ambassadors in Tokio during the week followed up the simultaneous public warnings from Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, and Cordell Hull, American secretary of state.

TORN FISH NETS LEFT IN WAKE OF YACHT POTOMAC

CHEBOGUE, N. S., Aug. 17 (AP).—The fishermen of Chebogue have a little grievance against the President of the United States. It has to do with the historic meeting of President Roosevelt with Prime Minister Churchill at sea.

While she cruised in Nova Scotian waters for several days, the Presidential yacht Potomac nosed into Yarmouth sound and wreaked havoc among the Chebogue fishermen's herring nets.

As a result the men of this little village three miles from Yarmouth had to labor for three days to repair the damage. Now they are considering sending a bill to the White House for the repairs.

F. D. R. AND HULL CONFER ON U. S. COURSE IN WAR

Near a Rocky Coast

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP).—A British film of the Roosevelt-Churchill talks shows that at least one of their meetings was held close to land. Rocky coastline is shown in the background as Mr. Churchill is leaning over the rail of the British battleship Prince of Wales and watching a departing American destroyer carrying President Roosevelt. It is conjectured here that the coastline may be that of Iceland, Labrador or Maine. [A plane bearing a print of the film is due in New York tomorrow.]

It was disclosed Mr. Roosevelt visited the British battleship only once, last Sunday. He attended church services, was entertained at luncheon, and later inspected the ship.

For another meeting Mr. Churchill went to an American ship in a bay quite close to shore. His first act was to give Mr. Roosevelt a message from King George. Then they lunched together on board and for a greater part of the time they were alone while their chiefs of staff got down to business in separate conference. Churchill stayed aboard for dinner that night.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—President Roosevelt and his aids returned to Washington today from their historic conference with Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain and his entourage on warships somewhere in the North Atlantic.

The President was met at the train by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who brought the latest information on developments in the European and Asiatic theaters of war. Secretary Hull had a brief conference with Mr. Roosevelt before leaving the train and then drove with him to the White House, where the discussion was continued.

Two Subjects in Foreground.

The situations particularly claiming the attention of the President and the secretary of state in these meetings are those created by Japan's threat to invade Thailand [Siam] as a preliminary to an attack on British Singapore and the Netherlands East Indies and Germany's demand on the Vichy government of unoccupied France to yield Dakar and other strategic points in French northwest Africa.

The President's pledge to Mr. Churchill of unlimited coöperation with the British for the "final destruction of the Nazi tyranny" bears directly upon the course Mr. Roosevelt is now to take to repel aggressions by the axis powers in those regions, in which, tho on the other sides of two oceans, the administration contends American security is threatened.

Armed Preparations Indicated.

All preparations, including Anglo-American naval and air staff conferences at Manila and Singapore and the movement of American warships into the south Pacific, indicate that the President intends to employ our armed forces in conjunction with the British to resist any further advance of the Japanese into Malaya.

The state department already has threatened Vichy with severance of diplomatic relations if Dakar or other African bases should be yielded to the Nazis. Also the President has stated that the occupation of Dakar or the Portuguese Azores and Cape Verde Islands by Germany would not be tolerated by the United States because such moves would constitute a threat of invasion of this country by way of South America.

No New Steps, Says Hull.

Secretary Hull upon leaving the White House said that he and the President had exchanged information and observations on the international situation and that no new steps were being taken at the moment to implement the administration's foreign policies.

This and other information indicate that Mr. Roosevelt regards it up to Japan and to Vichy to make the next moves. From the administration viewpoint, the joint declaration of the President and the prime minister, in

7TH CORPS UNITS OPEN DEFENSE OF ARKANSAS REGION

Meet Red Invader in First Phase of War Games.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Prescott, Ark., Aug. 17.—Troops of the 7th army corps, 100,000 strong, took to the field today in this southwestern Arkansas area for the opening phase of the six weeks of war games which will end about Sept. 30 in a gigantic engagement between the 2d and 3d armies.

Three full divisions component of the 7th corps under the command of Maj. Gen. Robert C. Richardson Jr., are participating in the initial phase of the maneuvers. They are the 27th division [New York] from Fort McClelland, Ala., under Maj. Gen. William N. Haskell; the 33d division [Illinois] from Camp Forrest, Tenn., under Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, and the 35th division [Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri] from Camp Robinson, Ark., commanded by Maj. Gen. Ralph E. Truman.

Defend Against Invaders.

The hypothetical military problem of the opening phase of the exercises is a defense against a hostile red force which has started an invasion of Arkansas from the west between the Ouachita mountains and the Little river. The maneuver area is bounded by a line extending from Arkadelphia, Ark., southwest to Hope, thence west by south to Ogden, west by north to Foreman, thence north to De Queen, northeast to Caddo Gap, and back southeast to Arkadelphia.

During the day contact was established with the defending blue army's 107th horse and mechanized cavalry along a line running from Murfreesboro thru Nashville and Mineral Springs to McNab, Ark. The 107th cavalry, which serves as the corps' reconnaissance regiment, will play a major rôle in the opening exercises. The purpose of its advance westward is to establish a protective screen to prevent the red invaders from observing or harrassing the movement of division troops.

Umpires Designate Foe.

The reconnaissance includes the discovering of enemy units at critical points. Actually the enemy is represented by umpires. When the cavalry reaches a certain point, the umpires state a tactical problem, such as enumerating enemy forces assumed to be holding that part of the terrain, and then check the actions and orders of cavalry unit commanders in that particular situation.

The blue 7th corps is expected to complete its concentration in tactical territory by tomorrow night and to be ready to move forward to protect the concentration of the remainder of the second army.

The movement of the 7th corps includes crossing of the Little river by the 33d and 35th divisions on temporary foot bridges and light and heavy pontoon bridges, and in assault boats. The temporary bridges were being erected tonight by the division engineer troops.

Unit Has AWOL Epidemic.

All troops composing the 2d army gathered here at the beginning of the maneuvers with only a little more than 1 per cent of the men absent without leave or at home station in the guard house.

The 94th colored engineers from Fort Custer, Mich., had the worst record. When the 1,100 men of that unit were ordered to Arkansas, 22 became AWOL. Following an altercation near here last Friday between troops of the unit and local civilians, in which state police intervened, 52 more became AWOL. One left a note to his captain saying he was a good soldier and sorry to leave, but under the circumstances he felt Michigan was a much better place for him.

Tuscola Woman to Mark Her 96th Anniversary

Tuscola, Ill., Aug. 17 [Special].—A family dinner today honored Mrs. Malinda J. Dotson, who will observe her 96th birthday Tuesday. Her husband, a Civil war veteran, died in 1919.

KEEFE PROMISES TO HEED PEACE DEMAND OF MAJORITY VOICE

Sheboygan, Wis., Aug. 17 [Special].—Congressman Frank B. Keefe, Oshkosh Republican, called upon the people today to think and speak first in terms of what is best for America.

As main speaker at the annual picnic here of the Federation of German-American societies, Keefe said that "with God's help we in congress who are determined to represent the will of 90 per cent of the people shall resist the rising clamor of intolerance and war. We shall work without stint and without thought of sacrifice to provide an impregnable national defense.

"We shall insist that in all our decisions and in all our deliberations the rights of the American people shall be first served. We shall demonstrate to the world that free men and free women still have the capacity for self government."

Keefe asserted that even tho President Roosevelt stated Saturday upon his return from the conference at sea with Churchill this nation is no closer to war, his cabinet officers "have indicated their desire to project the United States into a shooting war."

Keefe was introduced by Mayor Charles H. Bau.

ORDER ROUNDUP OF SOLDIERS IN TAVERN BATTLE

Wilmington, N. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Frederick Smith, commander of Camp Davis at Holly Ridge, near here, today ordered a roundup of all Negro soldiers on leave in Wilmington after a predawn free-for-all fight between Negro soldiers and Negro civilians here.

Five soldiers and six civilians were sent to hospitals. After the mêlée was quelled another Negro was found, taken to a hospital for examination, and thence to jail, where he died a few hours later. Military and civil police tried to determine whether there was any connection between the rioting and his death.

Police said the fight started in a Negro beer parlor when a bartender refused to serve a soldier. In a few minutes the tavern was a shambles. There was some shooting and one civilian was hit in the leg.

ARMY'S THEATER BRANDED FLOP BY BILLY ROSE

Programs Fail to Build Morale, Says Producer.

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—Billy Rose, the Broadway producer, declared today that the army's program to build soldier morale thru theatrical entertainment is a flop.

His view that the camp entertainment drive had failed was shared by Actors' Equity magazine, spokesman for the actors' union, which said Equity had tried for a year without success to get the army and navy departments to "sit down and work out a policy for entertainment or authorize the working out of a definite program."

Programs on Piecemeal Basis.

Equity said no full meeting had been held by the committee on theatrical entertainment, appointment of which was sanctioned three months ago by Frederick Osborn, chairman of the joint army and navy committee on welfare and recreation.

Camp shows so far have been provided on a potluck, piecemeal basis, Equity said, adding:

"You cannot pick up a lot of young men and take them a long way from home and work them hard without giving them an opportunity to have some fun. And any one who thinks they will be content to sit around barracks, or the post exchange, with interludes of occasional motion pictures which many of them have seen already, will find that those things are not enough for them."

Work Out Long Term Program.

Producer Rose, writing to the New York Daily News, said his staff had worked out a long term program to provide entertainment in 140 army camps and naval stations on an organized basis. He said he believed that a substantial majority of the top 50 men in show business would donate their services to put such a program into effect if the government would assure them it could be done on a scale commensurate with their sacrifice.

"I needn't tell you that both the Nazi and communist ideologies are abhorrent to me," Rose continued, "but the fact remains that for several years the Germans, thru their strength-thru-joy program, have paid considerable attention to the problem of morale, and tho I hate to give the Nazis any credit, I understand they've done a good job."

NAZIS LIMIT NEW FURNITURE SALES TO BOMB VICTIMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—Only persons whose dwellings have been destroyed or damaged "thru military action by the enemy" may buy new furniture in Germany now.

The order, just issued by the German minister of economy, Dr. Walther Funk, puts furniture in a class with clothes, shoes, textiles, and many other strictly rationed articles.

Even newlyweds, heretofore especially favored by the authorities in their efforts to set up homes, come under the new order. But officials did not think they would suffer. "Experience has shown," they said, "that newlyweds frequently had to store their new furniture anyway because of lack of house room."

GERMANS PRESS TOWARD ODESSA; BOMB RED SHIPS

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 18 [Monday].—Germany's hard hitting Ukraine army today was in control of Nikolaev, key Russian naval base and port, which was captured yesterday, and the rich iron ore district of Krivoi Rog, where 7,000 prisoners were taken and great quantities of war materials seized.

Nikolaev, on the Bug river estuary, is 60 miles northeast of Odessa, strategic Black sea port, toward which, German reports indicated, the Nazi offensive has been turned without a letup. Nikolaev is second only to Leningrad as a shipbuilding center and railways link it with Odessa, Kiev, Smolensk, and Moscow. It has a population of 140,000.

Mop Up Mine Area.

Krivoi Rog, center of the great mining area west of the Dnieper river and 100 miles northeast of Nikolaev, has been in German hands several days but mopping up operations were completed only yesterday.

[Moscow admitted early today that both Nikolaev and Krivoi Rog had been abandoned. With Nikolaev and Odessa under axis domination the naval base of Sevastopol, in the Crimea, would still remain as a soviet challenge in the Black sea. Germany, however, might choose to brave this and launch a maritime attack from Rumanian and Bulgarian bases against Russian oil ports at the eastern end of the sea.]

In the pocket formed by Krivol Rog and Nikolaev and the Dnieper river, German sources claimed the retreating Russian forces were trapped beyond hope of escape. Bridges over the Dnieper have been blasted by Nazi bombers and artillery has frustrated attempts to ferry the troops to the east bank, it was said.

Mopping up operations in the Dnieper area were expected to take some time, but with their completion it was said the Germans would seek to force the river against a Russian army believed so weakened it cannot make a stand on the eastern bank. One difficulty confronting the invaders, however, are the deep Dnieper plateau ravines which change their shape after every rain and offer good strongholds for defense.

Aims for Donets Basin.

Beyond the broad river, however, lies the Donetz river basin, rich coal region of the soviet and a source of power for far flung Russian industries. To win this area, the Germans must battle for 250 miles to reach the Donetz river.

Around Odessa, a large number of Russian troops were said to be completely isolated, with the German air force concentrating its attack on shipping to prevent a successful evacuation by sea.

Three Russian warships were reported bombed and DNB, official news agency, said a 5,000 ton transport filled with troops was bombed on the Crimean coast near Odessa. German bombers also raided Gorodishche, 80 miles southeast of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, which is still held by the Russians, and the area of Gomel, 135 miles north of Kiev.

Leningrad Push Continues.

Along the central front before Moscow, the German high command reported operations continuing according to plan, but in the north, where the battle for Lenigrad is underway, the Finnish advance along Lake Ladoga was said by other sources to have put the Russians in a precarious position.

A wide encirclement movement has begun, it was said, with the immediate objectives being the Moscow and Vologda railroads which connect Leningrad. By cutting these rail lines and capturing the Stalin canal, which connects Leningrad with Lake Onega and the White sea, Russia's second largest city could be isolated.

TELL HOW REDS DESTROY ALL IN NAZIS' PATH

ROME, Aug. 17.—Evidence that the Russians are destroying everything in the path of the advancing Germans continues to be given by the Italian press.

The Lavoro Fascisto said today:

"The Germans find nothing but ruins. The more they push into the interior, the more complete is the devastation. The destruction is systematic. No city, no village, no group of houses is spared. Nowhere has there been anything like what has happened in Russia."

The Germans will continue to advance, the paper said, and the starvation of millions of Russians will be the result of Moscow's "scorched earth" tactics.

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—Formation of a citizens' committee to free Earl Browder, with former labor leader Tom Mooney as chairman, was announced today. Browder, who resigned as general secretary of the communist party in the United States last February, began serving a four year sentence in Atlanta penitentiary last March 27 after conviction of passport fraud.

32 BRITISH PLANES CLAIMED AS NAZI TOLL OF WEEK-END

BERLIN, Aug. 18 [Monday] (AP).—Destruction of 32 British planes over the week-end was reported early today by German sources. DNB, official news agency, said six English planes parked on the Mildenhall airport northeast of London were destroyed in an attack yesterday.

The high command said 26 British planes were shot down Saturday while Nazi battle planes sank two merchantmen totaling 5,000 tons off the east coast of England and hit three other freighters.

RAF Downs Seven Nazis.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP).—RAF fighters on offensive sweeps across the English channel and over northern France destroyed seven German fighters today while other aircraft scored a torpedo hit on the stern of an "enemy tanker" off Le Touquet, France, the British reported tonight. Two RAF fighters and one bomber were lost.

British bombers last night attacked the Rhineland industrial cities of Cologne, Duesseldorf and Duisberg and bombed docks at Rotterdam and Ostend. Thirteen RAF planes were reported missing after this raid.

RETURN OF FRENCH PRISONERS SPEEDED BY NEW NAZI PACT

VICHY, France, Aug. 17.—Trains bearing released French prisoners recently have been arriving in both the occupied and unoccupied zones of the country in conformity with the accord reached with the Germans some weeks ago and made public July 2. Most of those freed have been reserve officers and men who also served in 1914-'18.

No figures are available yet concerning total prisoner releases. The latest figures, as of June 6, show a total of 45,912 releases of all ranks, not including medical corps members who technically cannot be made prisoners of war. The total number of captives has been estimated at about 1,800,000.

Throngs of pilgrims today went to Limon to the shrine of Our Lady of the Prisoners, the name under which the virgin is worshiped there, in an annual pilgrimage said to date to the third century. The pilgrims included many former prisoners recently released.

Grandstand Seats Free for Excavation Gawkers

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 17 [Special].—So many passersby have stopped to watch workers and machines excavate for a $50,000 building next door to the Granite City Trust and Savings bank that the owner, Orville E. Hodge, plans to build several tiers of seats inside the enclosure for them. A fence blocks the view from the street, and the curious have to go around and behind it. Hodge said the seats will be erected inside the fence and along the sides of the excavated area. Admission? It's going to be free.

SOUTHARD GETS WIDE SUPPORT IN VFW BATTLE

One Backer Is Van Zandt, Former Commander.

Telephone calls and telegrams of encouragement came from all sides yesterday as Earl Southard, suspended Illinois commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, drew plans for his defense before a VFW court martial Thursday at which he will be tried on charges of violating his membership oath.

James E. Van Zandt

The suspension and court martial were ordered by National Commander Joseph C. Menendez of New Orleans, La., after Southard's own post charged his activities as secretary of the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee constituted a violation of the oath.

Among those who came to Southard's defense was Representative James E. Van Zandt [R., Pa.], former national commander of the VFW, who said at his home in Altoona, Pa., that the VFW had no jurisdiction over a member's private opinions.

"As I see it," Van Zandt said, "the fact that Southard's name appeared on a Citizens Keep America Out of War handbill is none of the VFW's business as long as he did not sign his name as state commander.

"The VFW has no control over the rights of a private citizen. It cannot deny an official the right of opinion as long as he does not associate that opinion with his office.

"I'm sure, however, that the court martial board will consider the facts and protect the rights of Mr. Southard in this uncalled-for affair."

Others Wire Encouragement.

Other offers of aid came from VFW post commanders thruout the state. John Nelson, commander of the Gen. Lloyd Wheaton post, No. 74, at Wheaton; W. G. Steinbach, commander of Chicago post, No. 1604; Joe Benedittо of Chicago, commander of the 5th Illinois division; Lawrence Dougherty of Chicago, commander of the 1st Illinois district; Carl Reis of Aurora, commander of the 5th district, and William Bollig of Joliet, past commander of the Cantigny post, were among those who sent telegrams of encouragement.

The court martial charge stemmed from a handbill issued by the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee which advocated "no obedience" to the lend-lease bill. The handbill bore Southard's name along with several others.

View of a Critic.

"Every member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars swears to uphold the Constitution," he said. "The head of a state body of war veterans has no right to publicly advocate disobedience of the law of the land."

Pending the outcome of the court martial, Pierre Steele of Decatur, senior vice commander, will assume Southard's duties as Illinois commander of the VFW.

The trial before a court of past department commanders of several states will be held at 9 a. m. Thursday in the Morrison hotel. John L. Sullivan of Phoenix, Ariz., judge advocate of the VFW, will conduct the trial.

Attorney William J. Grace, who is chairman of the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee, will be Southard's counsel.

RAF FIGHTING PLANES SWEEP SICILIAN COAST IN DAYLIGHT ATTACKS

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 17 (AP).—A daylight sweep by fighter planes was carried out over Sicily yesterday by RAF airmen of the middle east command, who again subjected the Sicilian harbor at Catania to a severe bombing, the British reported today. Italians said 18 were killed and 25 wounded in a previous raid Friday night.

Malta, Britain's nearest base for such a sweep, was raided four times by the Italians on Friday night, but only slight damage was reported.

British bombers Friday raided east Libyan airdromes at Berka and Benina and the ports of Bardia and Bengazi, registering direct hits. Naval aircraft also raided Bardia and bombed shipping at Bengazi, the communique said, while the RAF and the South African air force pounded axis gun positions east of the British defenses at Tobruk.

In London the air ministry news service said British planes had sunk 17,000 tons of axis shipping in the Mediterranean within the last 48 hours.

HOME LOOTED DURING VACATION.

Burglars took jewelry and household furnishings valued at $400 from the home of Milburn Heinrichs, 922 East 82d street, last week while he and his wife, Anna, were vacationing in Indiana, he reported to police yesterday.

FINNS ASSERT AID TO STALIN WILL ARRIVE TOO LATE

Retreat Strategy Can't Succeed, They Say.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 17.—Military experts in Finland believe American and British help to Russia will come too late and that the conference scheduled to be held in Moscow between the delegates of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, and Josef Stalin will be futile.

"Success of the armies of Germany and her allies has completely destroyed bolshevism's chances for victory.

"The outbreak of war found the Red armies concentrated close to the western frontiers of Russia and poised for an offensive. They were prepared only to move forward.

Overwhelmed at Start.

"They were overwhelmed and did not succeed in following the strategy of the armies of Peter the Great and Alexander the First in retreating indefinitely to avoid decisive battles.

"The Red general staff had worked out the plan of the attack and had prepared no plan for a retreat. Dictator Stalin's planned conquest of Europe turned out to be a two edged sword.

"It would be too optimistic to count on a speedy collapse of the soviet. Resistance probably will continue for some time, but in a weaker form.

People Unaware of Defeat.

"The great majority of the inhabitants of Russia have no idea of the extent of the defeat already suffered by the Red armies on all fighting fronts.

"Besides the flags of Finland and Germany on the eastern front are the flags of the majority of the nations of Europe. All the peoples of Europe know their fate depends upon the outcome of this war. We all join in giving thanks that the decisive phase had already been won."

WAR TO BE WON ON OCEANS, SAYS NAZI ADMIRAL

BERLIN, Aug. 17 (AP).—Vice Admiral Walter Warzecha, speaking at the opening of a naval exhibition in Cologne yesterday, said, "This war demonstrates that the final decision of great wars must always be gained by fighting on the seas."

An empire such as the British, with access to raw materials thruout the world, is destined to "destruction if it is unable to maintain its overseas connections," the admiral declared.

"For that reason Germany and Britain meet wherever the cutting off of British supplies is at stake.

"Our fleet is inferior to the English but it has snatched the initiative. British shipping is no longer safe on any ocean, English ports are being mined and the British fleet compelled to scatter its forces to make a show against the offensive spirit of our navy."

Church Built by Pastorate Is Dedicated in Normal

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 17 [Special].—The New Assembly of God church in Normal was dedicated today. Not a cent was spent for labor in construction, labor being contributed by workmen of the congregation, the pastor, the Rev. F. A. Mitchell, and friends. Materials cost $8,000. The Rev. C. M. O'Guin, superintendent of the Illinois district of the Assemblies of God, was in charge of the dedication.

Tale of Two Hats

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Lend-Lease Administrator Harry L. Hopkins arrived back in Washington today wearing a new gray Homburg with the initials W. S. C. in the hatband. But he would say absolutely nothing about how he had obtained a hat from Britain's prime minister, Winston Churchill. Hopkins went to England wearing a battered fedora that turned up in front and flopped down at the sides over his ears.

SEA CONFERENCE TOPIC AT PEACE RALLIES TONIGHT

President Roosevelt's recent sea meeting with Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain will be the topic for discussion at two suburban American First rallies at 8 p. m. tonight.

Col. Harry A. Veeneman will address the Oak Park chapter of the America First committee at 736 Lake street in the suburb, and the Rev. Wesley Westerberg, pastor of the Wheaton Methodist church, will speak before the Evanston chapter at 908 Seward street, Evanston.

Two other meetings will be held Friday night when the Rev. William H. Medler of the Hyde Park Lutheran church addresses the Elmhurst America First chapter, and Walter F. Boye, Chicago attorney, addresses the Lombard chapter at Lombard.

18 TONS OF TNT FOR U. S. PERILED IN MEXICAN FIRE

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Aug. 17 (AP).—A large fire in the government munitions factory here today endangered 18 tons of stored TNT while squads of firemen and federal troops battled three hours to control the flames. Most of the TNT was scheduled for shipment to the United States under a contract with the war department.

Troops evacuated homes for a number of blocks around the factory until the fire had been put out.

Army officers refused to reveal the cause of the fire or the extent of the damage. Rumors of fifth column sabotage circulated, but were unconfirmed.

BRITAIN AND REDS JOIN IN SECOND WARNING TO IRAN

Tell of Their Alarm Over Influx of Nazis.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP).—British and Russian envoys at Teheran were authoritatively reported today to have issued a second warning to the Iranian [Persian] government that the "excessively large numbers of Germans" in that vital middle eastern land were a continuing cause of alarm to London and Moscow.

Sources here declined to amplify the report or to discuss whether a joint Russian-British move in Iran is imminent.

Allied Action Hinted.

While there were intimations in some circles that a decisive stroke is being considered by the two allies in the middle east, the nature of such action was not stated.

Authoritative quarters said the representations to Iran repeated a recent recommendation that effective measures be taken soon if the "potential menace arising from the activities of these Germans is to be removed."

Many of the agents, variously estimated at a few hundred to 3,000, are reported to have key positions in communications services.

Bases Demanded, Reds Say.

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—A broadcast by Tass, Russian official news agency, declared today that Germany is demanding air bases in Iran and is fostering activities of her agents in that country with a view to overthrowing the Teheran government if it does not meet Nazi wishes.

The broadcast declared, according to relayed reports from Ankara, Turkey, that the Germans also were demanding fuel for German planes which would operate from Iranian bases.

German agents, it is said, had set up an espionage organization near the soviet border and had infiltrated into the Iranian army.

MATRONS IN BLUE LEARN CRAWLING TO TACKLE BOMBS

N. Y. Society Girls Meet 'Darling' Firemen.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 17.—Out of the war fever gripping the upper inner circles of New York society will emerge a new American woman, the American Women's Voluntary Services, Inc., promises. She will be hard, she will be agile, and she will never, never repeat a word of gossip.

These utopian tenets are locked in the constitution of the AWVS, a group which, originating here in the about-to-be-bombed canyons of 5th avenue, hopes soon to have every woman in America a past master in the necessary arts of extinguishing incendiary bombs and counting fire hydrants. It now claims members in 22 states, Alaska, and the Philippines, with greatest membership here on the eastern seaboard.

At Grips with Bombs.

Attacking an incendiary bomb is one of the most popular courses of instruction in the 19 war preparedness courses the AWVS now teaches. It vies in dramatic content with how to decontaminate oneself after a poison gas attack, how to blackout your home and how to repair window panes with adhesive tape.

"To extinguish an incendiary bomb, you must crawl on your stomach, for there are only two feet of fresh air above it," Mrs. Opal McIlhenny, national director of programs and extension, explained seriously. "You handle the hose, and some one else handles the pump, and you smother it."

Mrs. McIlhenny leaned back and smiled patiently. The stomach crawl, she said, is one reason why the AWVS is giving women courses in physical fitness. This includes exercises in stretching the hamstring and acquiring lateral trunk muscle strength.

She Learns to Walk.

"People discovered in Europe that when they were bombed, they couldn't walk," she continued. "That's why the army couldn't get to the front. They weren't physically fit. Now, I frankly never used to walk, but now. . . ." An arch of her brows indicated that Mrs. McIlhenny has learned to walk.

"Now, I suppose some people will say there's very little chance of our being bombed, but we have to be ready," she said brightly. "I think every woman in the country should have ARP [air raid precaution]. Each woman must be self-sufficient. Now——"

Mrs. McIlhenny, a fairly young woman, broke off here to explain her own great interest in AWVS. She used to travel six months of the year "in the countries that now are gone." She felt she had to become useful.

Patrol of 20 Blocks.

"Now in our ARP course," she continued, "each woman is given 20 blocks. She must know how many buildings are in each and their height, how many schools, churches, children and places of assembly, so that she may herd the people into those places during attack."

This course is fully as popular as the fire fighting course, she said. In the latter a woman must walk 10 blocks from her home in one direction, two in another and 10 back. Then she must draw a map showing the position of fire hydrants. If in the country, she must indicate bridges, streams and telephones.

She also has to scour her house from attic to basement and list inflammables and water outlets. One woman found eight straw hats and two bunches of artificial flowers. Another listed all the water outlets, but forgot the tap in the kitchen sink.

Help "Darling Firemen."

The city firemen have been very helpful to the girls in learning fire fighting. The girls refer to them as "those darling firemen," and a deputy fire chief came back in gallant chivalry with the remark that the girls show "a surprising amount" of common sense.

Another popular course, particularly among debutantes, who look quite pretty in the AWVS uniforms of air force blue, is known as "running repairs." This is to prepare the girls for motor transport duty.

The running repairs course deals with how to repair the car you are driving. It is very intricate. Altho now in high gear, it began sadly when a class of 50 girls started out with 50 cars, each of which was to break down on the road and be repaired by its feminine driver. Unfortunately, the 50 broke down in a row on 57th street in the midst of a heavy rainstorm, and knotted up traffic for three hours.

Mystery Course in Boating.

Mrs. Margaret Orr, director of courses for New York's five boroughs, says some of the 19 courses will have to be thrown out. The course in leadership has been a fiasco. "We couldn't get a proper leader for it," she said. Currently she is disturbed about a course in boating that has been started in the Bronx. "I don't know what it is all about," she says. "I have to go and find out."

A course billed merely as preparedness also is on the skids. In this, New York's policemen, firemen, and La Guardian assistants lecture on what they'll do when the bombs come. The women protest that they've read it all in the papers beforehand.

A Pain in the Neck.

The women love the course in gas decontamination. Mrs. Orr said they "give it hell," but one in communications is "a pain in the neck." This tells how to mend disrupted communication lines, and the women seem peculiarly lacking in ardor.

Altogether, 5,552 women in New York have taken some AWVS course or other, and 2,432 are under instruction now. Mrs. Orr says one of the most important is map reading.

"Where roads are blocked by debris, with all signals and landmarks obliterated," she explained, "she can take her map and protractor and compass and find her way. Of course, she'll always have her topographical map with her."

Refresher Courses Later.

"And if she hasn't?"

"Why," bridled Mrs. Orr, "she shouldn't go out in her car in that case."

After a woman has taken one course, or several, she may take "refresher" courses in the same thing. A refresher course is just what the name indicates. Not many women have taken refresher courses yet.

ENVOY TO TELL U.S. 'ALL FACTS' ON THAILAND RECALL

BANGKOK, Thailand, Aug. 17 (AP).—Hugh Gladney Grant, the United States minister at this far eastern trouble spot, issued a statement today saying the report concerning his resignation, as announced in Washington, D. C., did not contain all the facts and that he was returning to the United States where he would make a further announcement.

Grant said his resignation was submitted last December along with the resignations of all other chiefs of diplomatic missions, as is customary at the advent of a new administration. He said it was not accepted until eight months later.

Grant, a former Alabama newspaper man, said he regretted leaving Thailand "especially at this time of political tension in the far east."

[Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced on Aug. 13 the resignation of Grant, explaining it had been tendered some time ago and had no connection with current events.]

LA GUARDIA FOE DEMANDS END OF NEW DEAL WASTE

Davies Urges Ousting of Reds in Government.

New York, Aug. 17 [Special].—Charging that Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, whom he termed "a perfect symbol of the New Deal," had supported measures and policies that threatened the life of constitutional government, John R. Davies announced today he would continue his fight as a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor.

John R. Davies.

Davies said he wanted to give Republicans an opportunity to express themselves in opposition to the New Deal domestic policies of President Roosevelt and the threatened participation by America in the war.

Mayor La Guardia has been tacitly approved as a third term candidate by a majority of city Republican leaders.

"If it were merely a question of good government in the city, I should not be in this fight," Davies said. "Except to oust Red fellow travelers, I would make few changes in present key places."

Former Municipal Judge.

Mr. Davies, a 62 year old lawyer of some prominence, is a former municipal court justice, and a three time president of the national Republican club. He has been a forceful opponent of communist activities.

Davies' nominating petitions contained more than 13,000 names, altho only 5,000 signatures are required.

Davies said the New York City election this fall offers the only local opportunity for voters to register their protest against "what is going on in Washington." He added that he saw more than the danger that the United States would be maneuvered—without a constitutional vote by congress—into fighting a long and bloody war in Africa, Europe, and Asia. He cited price increases in milk, bread, and "everything a family uses" and expressed belief that the buying power of the dollar would continue to dwindle.

The city election, he said, offers the last chance to protest against reckless waste at Washington which "threatens national bankruptcy, inflation, and repudiation."

Why a Harry Hopkins? He Asks.

"How can we solve the troubles of the world if we first commit financial suicide?" he asked.

He offered also this question: Why a Harry Hopkins? "If the principal object of spending all these billions to help the British, if it is not to place a perpetual class of commissars in control of American business and labor—why did not President Roosevelt appoint a real administrator instead of a Harry Hopkins director of the 'lend-lease' program?"

Davies asserted that, "no matter how much we hate Hitler," and how much we may grieve for those he has enslaved, the United States should not "buy back with the lives of our young men, one acre of Europe."

Sees U. S. Ready to Repel Invader.

New York, Aug. 17 [Special].—Detailed plans for repelling any attempt at invasion of either coast of North America have been completed by the permanent joint Canadian-United States defense board and are ready to be put into action, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, chairman of the board's American section, announced today in a broadcast commemorating the first anniversary of the Ogdensburg agreement under which the board was established. Asserting he had a more optimistic view of the international situation than prevailed a year ago when the agreement was reached at an informal meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King of Canada, the mayor said there now was no reason for North America to "fear any power or combination of powers."

YOUNG DEMOCRAT CLUBS OF U. S. TO DISCUSS DEFENSE

Homer Mat Adams, national president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, announced from his Chicago headquarters yesterday that the annual convention of the organization opening at Louisville, Ky., next Thursday will limit its discussions to nonpartisan consideration of national defense and similar subjects.

Vice President Wallace, Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, and Adolph A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state, have been invited to address the convention and have made their acceptances contingent upon the pressure of business in Washington. Kentucky's two senators, Alben W. Barkley and A. B. Chandler, and Gov. Keen Johnson are on the program for Thursday night.

DRAKE'S VOYAGE TRACED IN WORDS OF INDIAN TRIBE

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 17 (AP).—Further indications that Sir Francis Drake anchored his booty-laden ship, the Golden Hind, in what is now known as Drake's bay, 35 miles north of San Francisco, were offered today by two University of California researchers. Similarity of words which were spoken by a now extinct tribe of Pacific coast Indians and accounts of the language as given by Drake's chroniclers was reported by Dr. Robert F. Heizer and Dr. William Elmendorf, anthropologists.

Map locates Drake's bay.

Dr. Heizer and Dr. Elmendorf described the language parallel as perhaps the clearest indication of Drake's exact landing place since the finding of the historically significant "Drakes' Plate" in 1936. The blackened brass plate, by which it was believed Drake claimed this entire country for Queen Elizabeth of England, was found one mile inland from the bay where the freebooter supposedly anchored the Golden Hind in 1579, awaiting favorable conditions to cross the Pacific.

GUNS RISE IN WHEAT FIELDS TO POT NAZIS IN RAIDS ON MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 (AP).—Anti-aircraft guns that rise out of peaceful looking wheat fields at the approach of raiding planes, send up a screen of fire and then disappear after their work is completed are defending Moscow from the German air force. Foreign correspondents were permitted today to inspect one of the batteries which ring the soviet capital.

It proved to be a modern unit with four medium caliber guns, complete with a range-finding detector, a newly developed predictor to translate the altitude, course and speed of a plane into the angle of the gun and the timing of the shell.

At an order of the commanding officer camouflaged pits opened and the long barrels of the guns pointed skyward. Within a few seconds a range was shouted from the predictor post buried at the center of the battery and the guns were ready to fire 30 shells a minute each.

JAPAN BARS EXIT OF ALIENS UNLESS POLICE APPROVE

Embassies Advised by Foreign Ministry.

TOKIO, Aug. 18 [Monday]—(AP).—All embassies, legations, and consulates were advised today by the foreign ministry that aliens residing in Japan henceforth must obtain authorization from local government officials and police in order to leave the country.

The newspaper Asahi's special correspondent in San Francisco, Cal., yesterday reported that Consul General Yoshio Muto had been invited to Washington, D. C., by Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura to discuss possible dispatch of a special ship to evacuate Japanese from the United States.

[The state department in Washington reported Saturday that Japan would refuse to grant clearance papers to an American liner if it went to Japan to remove more than 100 private American citizens desirous of leaving.]

Asahi predicted severe political and economic pressure would be exerted upon Thailand [Siam] by "anti-axis nations" and declared "we cannot treat such pressure lightly."

See Threat in Stimson Talk.

Nichi Nichi, another newspaper, said the United States-British-Russian talks in Moscow added to the encirclement threat against Japan.

Referring to a recent statement by the United States Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Nichi Nichi said, "We can see that the Americans plan to form an encircling structure."

[Secretary Stimson said on Friday night: "We are building air and naval bases in Alaska and the Aleutian Islands to keep off attacks from the northwest, where our coast approaches to within 50 miles of the Russian Siberian coast of Asia."]

Asks 4-Power Anti-Jap Pact.

MILTON J. HELMICK.

Milton J. Helmick, who as judge of the United States court of China has jurisdiction over all Americans in China, arrived by train in Chicago yesterday and left a short time later for Washington, D. C. He said that during his seven year stay in Shanghai he has observed that Americans are the best liked of all foreigners. Asked about the Chinese reaction to the English, he replied: "Well, they like them, too. But China must some day regain her sovereignty." Judge Helmick returned to America on July 12, and said he will go back to China soon.

CHINESE LEADER'S 3 BODY GUARDS SHOT TO DEATH

SHANGHAI, Aug. 18 [Monday] (AP).—Usually reliable sources reported today that three members of Wang Ching-wei's personal bodyguard were shot to death and a fourth was wounded in an attack Saturday night on the Nanking home of the leader of the Japanese-sponsored Chinese régime.

These sources said the attack was reported to have been instigated by Japanese who doubted Wang's trustworthiness and took that means of warning him not to make any false moves in his relations with Japan. Six men were said to have participated in the sudden attack. Nine shots were fired.

The Japanese army press headquarters here said it had no information of such an incident.

Japanese sources intimated that the Nanking régime soon might order British and American consular representatives out of Japanese occupied China, on the ground that their countries failed to recognize the Wang government.

which Mr. Roosevelt pledged whatever aid is necessary to conquer and disarm Germany, Italy, and Japan, may well have given Japan, if not Germany, pause.

The declaration was calculated to impress the axis powers with the futility of expecting to win the war with Britain reinforced by the enormous material resources and man power of the United States.

Expect Japan to Hesitate.

Consequently there is a widely held view in the administration that Japan will hesitate to invade Thailand or take any further aggressive step in the south Pacific which might bring the United States into the war in support of the British and of the East Indian Dutch. If Japan now pursues a more circumspect course the President will mold his policy accordingly. The same considerations obtain in the case of Vichy.

Information leaking out of the Roosevelt entourage leaves no doubt that the conference at sea was engineered and managed by the British government from start to finish and that Mr. Roosevelt was merely a necessary instrument to accomplish a very definite purpose.

Two-Fold Purpose Told.

That purpose was two-fold. It was to demonstrate to the axis powers that the United States is allied with Britain not only economically but militarily to fight this war to the bitter end and to rouse the crusading ardor of the American people to fight to establish Utopia in the post-war world.

Mr. Roosevelt, it turns out, had no conception of the scope of the affair in which he was to participate. All he knew when he set forth on his yacht for a cruise up the New England coast was that he was to transfer to an American cruiser and subsequently to confer with Mr. Churchill on a British battleship. He was to have with him such officials as he might wish to advise him on the proceedings.

British Take Care of Publicity.

What he did not know was that the British had made elaborate arrangements to publicize the meeting and the commitments entered into by the two chiefs of state. Mr. Churchill was accompanied not only by British army and navy authorities but by newspaper men, photographers, and movie camera men.

Mr. Roosevelt took no reporters or photographers with him, presumably from ignorance of the character of the conference he was going into and perhaps because of a disposition to permit the British to run the show in their own way. As a result the British made all the arrangements and recorded the event for the press, screen, and radio.

The event was announced to the world on the radio by Maj. Clement R. Attlee, British lord privy seal, the White House functioning in a subordinate rôle by making public concurrently a copy of the joint declaration. Later that day the British released press accounts of the conference and photographs for publication. Within 48 hours thereafter the British supplied the movie theaters with reels of motion pictures of the scenes attending the meeting.

URGES HOLDING JAP HOSTAGES FOR AMERICANS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Representative John D. Dingell [D., Mich.] said today that if Americans were not permitted to leave Japan peacefully the United States should "order imprisonment in concentration camps in Hawaii of 10,000 alien Japanese within 48 hours after transmission of a note to the Tokio government." Dingell told reporters he intended to make this suggestion to President Roosevelt in a letter tomorrow.

IF YOU NEED $100 HERE'S WHAT TO DO

How to borrow cash quickly and simply and repay in monthly installments which fit your own income

CAN YOU make good use of $100? Investigate our loan plans today. Household Finance offers three simple ways for you to borrow up to $300. Your loan will be made the way which best suits your own situation.

1. Signature loans. No security needed. These loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples.

2. Auto loans. A loan on your car may best fit your needs.

3. Furniture loans. Here character and regular income are far more important than the value of your security. Many borrowers use this plan.

No endorsers needed

Whichever way you borrow, it is not necessary to ask friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your money affairs. You get the loan you need simply, privately and speedily.

You may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments as shown in the table. Monthly installments of $9.77 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or as little as $6.43 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

Borrow for less

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. Some finance companies do charge a higher rate. It's good business to compare rates before you borrow.

If you need money, here's what to do. Come to Household. Or just phone and say you need a loan. We're here to serve you. Phone or visit us today without obligation.

U. OF C. FACULTY LEADERS ASSAIL APPEAL FOR WAR

Stand with Hutchins in Striving for Peace.

Prominent members of the University of Chicago faculty spoke out yesterday against a warlike petition which in its 11th day bore the signatures of only 16 per cent of the university staff of about 800. They said it appears that the majority of the faculty stands firmly with President Robert M. Hutchins, who repeatedly has warned the country against "national suicide."

Prof. Malcolm Sharp.

Prof. Malcolm P. Sharp of the law school declared the 131 signers of the petition are in effect asking for a quick declaration of war. Besides starting shooting at sea, the signers would have the President and congress remove all geographical limitations on the use of our soldiers, and take "all other action" necessary to defeat Germany.

Do Not Urge "Rash Steps."

"So long as we continue unable to do more than we are now doing in our economic and military efforts," Prof. Sharp said, "and also so long as we are not firing, some of us will continue to hope that President Roosevelt will find a way to contribute to a stable peace without going to war.

"We naturally do not join in urging steps which seem rash by any test, and which any sane man must hope to avoid if possible."

The dean of students, George A. Works, was brief in his explanation of why he refused to sign the petition.

"I don't know that there need be more than one reason stated," Dean Works said. "I think the whole policy of the administration has been one of edging us into the war, and I don't believe in that."

Can't "Fight the Devil."

Miss Sophonisba Breckinridge, professor emeritus of public welfare administration and a nationally known personality in her field, was emphatic.

"I felt so clearly and strongly on the subject that I wrote to the circulators of the petition cards that I would not support them," she said. "I'm one of those people who go back to the gospel, and I never believed that you can fight the devil by behaving as he does."

Dr. Stephen Corey of the school of education said he opposed the whole policy advanced by the petition.

"It was not a 'Yes' or 'No' card, but invited only the answer of 'Yes,'" Dr. Corey said. "However, I scribbled my objections on it anyway."

Studied at Oxford University.

At Dr. Corey's suggestion a reporter asked Prof. Bernadotte E. Schmitt, chairman of the petition committee, how many cards were received with objections written on them. Dr. Schmitt said four. He could not recall receiving any from Miss Breckinridge or Miss Edith Abbott, dean of the school of social administration, who also wrote objections.

Prof. Schmitt studied at Oxford university with the aid of one of the scholarships established by Cecil Rhodes, British empire builder in Africa.

JAPANESE FREE U. S. MISSIONARY GROUP IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, China, Aug. 17 (AP).—Southern Presbyterian missionaries detained at Tsingkiang by the Japanese military were released yesterday, the Japanese consulate general here informed the American consulate general today.

Simultaneously, the Japanese army press bureau issued a statement denying that any Americans "are under detention," but the statement omitted saying whether any Americans previously had been detained.

Last Thursday Presbyterian missionary authorities here reported Japanese military forces seized on July 31 the missionary hospital and other property at Tsingkiang, 215 miles northwest of Shanghai, and had virtually imprisoned nine American physicians and missionaries there.

FRENCH LAUNCH DRIVES AGAINST ANTI-PETAIN MEN

Vichy Appeals for Loyalty of American Colonies.

VICHY, France, Aug. 17 (AP).—Simultaneous campaigns were launched in Vichy and German occupied Paris today against government officials accused of betraying Chief of State Henri Philippe Petain's national revolution. At the same time France appealed by radio to overseas possessions to remain faithful.

These developments coincided with pressure by French and German authorities against communist and other anti-collaborationist activity in the occupied zone.

Joseph Barthelemy, new minister of justice, in an interview criticizing officials attempting to sabotage the government's work, expressed himself in almost the terms used by Marcel Deat, editorial writer, in L'Oeuvre in Paris.

Violent Reactions Hinted.

Deat declared that the difference between Petain's plan for national unity and the way the government was being administered was so great that discontent had reached a stage worse than in the period preceding the Popular Front uprising in 1936. He warned that "violent reactions might come."

Barthelemy warned:

"It is no longer premissible for any interpreter of Marshal Petain's wishes to carry out his orders with feebleness."

Six Seized in Drive on Reds.

Six arrests were disclosed in the campaign against communist activity in the occupied zone.

The wives of two former communist deputies, Gaston Midol and Pierre Benoist, were taken in custody in Paris on a charge that they drafted a letter which was signed by accused communist deputies and senators protesting their detention and criticizing the government.

Andre Thellier, a communist leader, was arrested on a charge of possessing communist tracts. The crime is of a type for which the death penalty was announced by the German high command.

Appeal to American Colonies.

Decrees in the official journal removed a number of mayors and municipal councilors in occupied and unoccupied zones.

Colonial Secretary Rene Platon broadcast the appeal to French possessions in the American hemisphere and the Pacific to maintain allegiance to the Vichy government. He inaugurated a new broadcasting station at Allouis, in the occupied zone west of Bourges, made available to Vichy by the Germans. Platon particularly urged island possessions in the Pacific to "continue your resistance."

France protested against British appointment of a De Gaullist ["Free French"] leader, Gen. Georges Catroux, as commander of the armies of the Levant [near east] as a violation of the Syrian armistice terms.

HUNT RELATIVE AFTER GIRL IS SLAIN IN MOVIE

Fries, Va., Aug. 17 (AP).—A posse searched the Iron mountain vicinity tonight for 25 year old Eliza Cox, wanted, Sheriff Muncey Wingate said, for questioning in the fatal shooting of Pauline Payne, 18, in a Fries theater last night.

The search, instituted immediately after Miss Payne was shot thru the heart as she watched a motion picture, continued all night and thruout the day, the Grayson county sheriff said.

Cox, the father of two children, is an uncle by marriage of the slain girl, Miss Paynie, whose mother is dead, had lived with Cox and her aunt for some time.

Chief of Police Bruce Smith of Fries, first officer to take up the search, said Miss Payne was sitting in the theater with an enrollee from a CCC camp near by when she was shot.

Mrs. Anna Wiochalski, 45 years old, shot and killed herself yesterday in the basement of her home at 1807 North Albany avenue.

TRAFFIC HEAVY DESPITE CURB ON GASOLINE SALES

New York, Aug. 17 [Special].—Motor traffic in the New York area continued at peak holiday proportions today, with a normal drain on gasoline supplies despite the order Friday by federal authorities that a 10 per cent reduction in gasoline deliveries be enforced immediately thruout the 17 states of the eastern seaboard. Police on main highways reported one of the busiest days of 1941.

The general attitude of filling station operators was that they would keep on selling gasoline until their supply was exhausted, and most of the customers apparently took a similar position. Motorists asked for full tanks.

Most of the service station operators said they had full supply tanks and that the worry wouldn't really catch up with them until the middle of the week. Most of them were outspoken in criticism of the wholesale rationing.

TWO PRISONERS SCALE FENCE AT TRAINING SCHOOL

Two prisoners scaled the high steel fence at the Illinois Training School for Boys near St. Charles and escaped last night. They were Mike Zevkovich, 16 years old, 8804 Buffalo avenue, and Tony Yelaska, 18, of 2718 Princeton avenue. They were to have worked in the power house until 10 p. m., but at 9:35 they slipped away. Twenty guards were sent in search for them, and state and Chicago police were notified. According to H. E. Johnson, assistant managing officer, Zevkovich entered the school Oct. 16, 1940, and Yelaska four days later. He was unable to determine immediately what offenses they had been charged with.

'No Pass' State Fair Gains $200,000 Revenue in 9 Days

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17 (AP).—Illinois' "no pass" state fair ended a nine day run today with an estimated revenue gain of nearly $200,000 to show for the innovation. Final day attendance of 39,339—held down by a drizzle and chilly temperatures—brought the nine day total to 625,005, of which 437,892 were paid admissions.

BLESSES PLANE TO BE USED IN TRAINING PILOTS

The Rev. Joseph Prusinski, pastor of St. John Cantius Roman Catholic church, yesterday sprinkled holy water on a Porterfield monoplane to be used in training Polish-Americans for possible war service. About 5,000 persons attended the ceremony held at the Rubinkam airport, 167th street and Kedzie avenue, where the Sky Eagles club will have charge of the training program. Among those present were the Polish consul, Alexander Moc, and two Polish flyers, who are serving with the British, Col. Witold Urbanowicz and Capt. Wladislaw Rogalski.

U. S. FLOUR SACKS USED TO CLOTHE FRENCH CHILDREN

VICHY, France, Aug. 17.—French thrift, ingenuity, and poverty have transformed 200,000 flour sacks which held America's wheat gift to the people of unoccupied France into sheets, aprons, bibs, dresses, shirts, and underclothing for children of French unemployed.

In an interview with the newspaper Le Journal today one of the members of the unemployment bureau told how this came about.

"One of our employés was in Marseilles when the Red Cross was distributing the American flour," she said. "She happened to see the flour sacks and commented on the beautiful cotton material of which they were made. The Red Cross official said that if they could be turned to useful purposes for the unemployed, he would donate them gladly. The gift was arranged and thousands of French unemployed women were given the task of preparing and making useful things from the sacks."

By scraping and beating the sacks after they had been emptied the women also salvaged 30 kilograms of flour per 5,000 sacks. This flour was distributed among the most needy unemployed.

CIVIL WAR ERA MANSION THROWN OPEN TO PUBLIC

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 17 [Special].—The Duncan Manor house in Towanda, the only Civil war mansion in this area, was opened to the public today when members of the woman's society of Christian service took over the home during the afternoon for an exhibit of antiques.

The three story brick mansion was built by W. R. Duncan, a farmer and stock raiser. A large corps of servants was required to care for it and separate living quarters were built for them at the rear of the house. The front entrance leads to two immense rooms, the parlor of the 60's and a bedroom. The ceilings are 11 feet high and there are six fireplaces, each with a black marble mantle, in the house. The staircase has a curved balustrade and hand carved spindles of solid walnut extending to the third floor.

CAMPAIGN OPENS FOR $400,000 TO SAVE AUDITORIUM

Boon to Chicago as Music Center Envisaged.

Chicago may become the music center of the nation by raising $400,000 thru public subscription to save the Auditorium theater, Robert Hall McCormick, chairman of the Auditorium Music Foundation, said yesterday.

McCormick outlined his plan as he announced the opening of the Foundation's drive for funds to save the Auditorium theater, which since the 1880s has been a landmark of Chicago culture.

The structure, burdened with taxes and a white elephant to its owners, was closed Aug. 1. The foundation was formed to save it in response to public appeal.

What $400,000 Can Do.

Headquarters of the organization have been opened at 332 South Michigan avenue. The $400,000 set as the goal of the campaign is enough, according to McCormick, to make possible the purchase of the site, to pay for installation of a heating and power plant, and to provide a reserve for emergencies.

"I believe we'll have the theater open by Dec. 1," McCormick said. "Chicago will respond to this appeal. It means not only saving a historical cultural monument, but making our city the musical center of the nation.

"With Europe unsettled, great teachers are coming to the United States. We want them in Chicago. I believe that thru the attractive offers we will make the best schools and teachers in music, dancing, and the allied arts will come to Chicago.

"The Auditorium will be the mecca for these teachers. It will mean the broadening of Chicago's own musical interests."

Taxes Will Be Reduced.

Because the foundation is a non-profit organization, taxes will be reduced 75 or 80 per cent, McCormick said. The Auditorium will be self-sustaining after the initial expense, he added, on income resulting from the rent of the hotel, the theater, and a number of offices.

Owners of the land, the Willing, Sears, and Slater estates, have indicated their willingness to take 10 year bonds in the foundation in payment for the site.

Mayor Kelly is honorary chairman of the organization. Other members are William F. Krahl, first vice president; Joseph K. Brittain, second vice president; Elmer Rich, treasurer; William A. Dudley, secretary, and the mayor's committee, which includes Phillip F. W. Peck, Frank A. Whitson, Charles Y. Freeman, John Goodridge, and Albert H. Wetten. An advisory committee also is being formed.

All contributions should be addressed to the foundation office.

HOSPITAL GROUP DISCUSSES NEED FOR NEGRO CARE

Corrective care rather than larger prisons and hospitals are needed for Chicago's Negro population, according to two of the principal speakers who yesterday addressed a meeting of the National Hospital association at the Olivet Baptist church, 3101 South Park way.

Rodney H. Brandon, state director of the department of public welfare, told the 900 members present that nearly half of the inmates of the Illinois State Training school for boys, near St. Charles, and of the Dixon State hospital for the feeble-minded, are Negroes. Economic factors and ignorance, rather than racial traits, are responsible for the high percentage, he said, and must be corrected.

Dr. Marshall Davidson, medical director of Cook County hospital, said 25 per cent of the hospital's patients are colored. He said a program of education, outlining health methods, has been adopted at the institution in an effort to reduce the high rate of sickness among the Negro population. Dr. Howard K. Thurman, a dean at Howard university, Washington, D. C., will be the principal speaker tonight.

QUESTIONED ABOUT FALSE ALARM.

James Everett, 26 years old, of 66 West Van Buren street, was arrested for questioning yesterday after firemen had responded to a false alarm at Monroe and La Salle streets. He denied he had given the alarm.

GUARD FREEDOM, GREEN WARNS AT EASTERN RALLY

Flat Top, W. Va., Aug. 17 (AP).—Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois, speaking at the annual Lilly family picnic, declared today that the call for unselfish devotion and sacrifice is as imperative now as at any time in history.

"Our lives and our futures, and those of generations yet unborn depend upon the preservation of liberty and opportunity," he said in the final address of the two day meeting, a well known eastern G. O. P. event.

"Attack from without is not the only danger against which we must guard, because we are confronted by serious dangers from within. There are those who hate us because they do not understand our love of liberty and equality.

"The real strength of defense of America is not all in the formation of armed might, or in the air, or on the ocean. Much of it depends upon the spirit of us at home. No army or navy or air corps is stronger than the nation behind the lines, because a military force is only the projection of the spirit of the people from which it springs."

CLOSER BRITISH AND U. S. BONDS URGED BY COOPER

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—Closer bonds between the British and American peoples to bolster the Roosevelt-Churchill statement were urged today by Alfred Duff Cooper, former British minister of information.

In a radio address, Cooper, who is en route to Singapore to coördinate British political controls in the far east, said in discussing the eight points of the recent conference:

"It is good that our rulers should have met and talked and agreed, but the foundations of our friendship should come from below rather than above if that friendship is to be permanent and prove capable of performing the great tasks that may be imposed upon it."

TELEGRAMS CALL 12TH FESTIVAL GREATEST OF ALL

Reservations for 1942 Already Coming In.

Telegrams of congratulation on the 12th annual Chicagoland Music Festival, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., poured in yesterday from radio listeners in every corner of the nation.

The radio listeners agreed with Chicagoans who heard the music in Soldiers' field Saturday night that the 12th festival was the greatest of them all.

Philip Maxwell, director of the festival, reported that the most enthusiastic comment was reserved for the "Injun Summer" pageant, the tribute to John T. McCutcheon, THE TRIBUNE cartoonist; the triumphant appearance of the Bengal Guards, and the music of the marimba orchestra.

Director of Pageant.

The "Injun Summer" pageant was directed by Miss Mayblossom Macdonald, with the assistance of Mrs. Ernie Schultz. The marimba orchestra was led by Clair Omar Musser.

Congratulations were not the only messages which came. The festival was hardly over when requests for reservations for the 1942 festival began arriving.

The Egyptian Choral club held its annual breakfast yesterday in the Continental room of the Stevens hotel and then went to Jackson park to give a concert at the picnic of the Egyptian club of Chicago. The girls of the Bengal Guards had their farewell breakfast in the same room, where Mr. Maxwell presented a silver festival cup to the Guards' sponsor, H. J. Lutcher Stark, Texas lumberman and philanthropist. Mr. Maxwell invited the Guards to come back for the third successive year to the 1942 festival.

Ride Special Train Home.

The Wewoka, Okla., band, directed by Everett Wilcox, gave a farewell concert at the Great Lakes Naval Training station before departing for home.

Many of the thousands of performers who took part in the festival spent the week-end in Chicago.

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—Three women were crushed to death and 60 persons were injured today when 5,000 Negroes waiting to go on a Hudson river steamer excursion stampeded after learning many of the tickets sold to them were bogus.

More than three times the expected number showed up at the pier at 132d street and the Hudson river.

1,400 Get Aboard Ship.

Puzzled officials of the Harlem lodge sponsoring the outing had admitted 1,400 persons to the steamer before learning that counterfeit tickets for the excursion had been sold by the thousand.

When word of this reached them the waiting excursionists, fearful they would be left behind, pushed forward, waving their tickets, shouting and shoving to board the vessel.

Patrolmen were unable to stop the milling thousands, and before emergency police arrived scores of the Negroes had been thrown against the pier gates and injured.

Crowd Roped Back.

Police finally checked the stampede by ordering the excursion steamer to pull away from the pier. The crowd was roped back and ambulances began taking the injured to hospitals. When the pier area was cleared the trampled bodies of three Negro women were found. They were Marion Worrell, 48 years old; Rose Grant, 50, and Martha Murraine, 54.

The pier was covered with hundreds of scattered picnic boxes, pieces of fried chicken, pocketbooks, and articles of clothing.

Most of the Negroes returned to their homes, but approximately 300 of them boarded the State of Delaware after it returned to the pier, and the vessel pulled off upstream.

U. S. FLYERS FOIL JAPS BY HIDING A 12 TON PLANE FROM BOMBERS

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—How American airmen saved a 12 ton commercial transport plane from Japanese bombers after it had been damaged in a raid at Siufu, China, was related today in information from the China National Aviation corporation.

Hugh L. Woods of Colorado City, Colo., had left Chungking May 20 when he was advised by radio that five Japanese planes were in the vicinity. He landed at the Siufu airport, discharged his passengers and hid the plane under some trees. A minute later the Japanese dropped 200 bombs on the airport, one tearing off the transport's right wing.

Next day, Woods had the plane moved to a new place of concealment three miles away. Coolies leveled off the bombed runways, Capt. Harold Arthur Sweet of Salt Lake City, Utah, flew Woods a spare wing, the plane was repaired as Japanese searchers machine gunned the area and both flyers and their crews returned to Hongkong safely.

MEETING IN MOSCOW.

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill have joined in sending a letter to Uncle Joe Stalin asking him if there isn't something he can use by way of war supplies. Uncle Joe has replied that there might be and has invited British and American representatives to a conference to be held in Moscow as quickly as the delegates can assemble.

Without the advice and consent of the senate Mr. Roosevelt has formed what, for all practical purposes, is an alliance with the bloodiest tyranny this world has ever seen. To clear the way for the alliance Mr. Roosevelt in his joint statement with Mr. Churchill dropped religious freedom from the list of the four freedoms for which we are supposed to be concerned. That omission must have been calculated to demonstrate to Uncle Joe that all is forgiven. He is to believe that when we have finished with one crusade against a foul tyrant in Berlin we aren't going to start another against an equally foul tyrant in Moscow. When we have finished with one of the two aggressors who squeezed Poland out of existence we aren't going to start a war against the other.

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill didn't wait for Uncle Joe to ask for help, as is the usual procedure. They volunteered it and it is easy to see why. Mr. Churchill over many years made no secret of his hatred for bolshevism and his distrust for bolsheviks. So far as Mr. Roosevelt is concerned, he found much to admire in the soviet régime and one of the first acts of his diplomacy was the recognition of Russia; Mr. Roosevelt was grateful for the support and guidance he received from Stalin's American subjects and gave some of them good jobs in Washington. For two years, however, Mr. Roosevelt has been distinctly unfriendly. Both he and Mr. Churchill felt that in view of what had gone before they must now demonstrate that the soviets have been admitted to partnership without qualification or reservation.

Stalin has accepted the offer as any one would in the circumstances. He needs supplies more than he needs anything else and here's the way to get them. He knows that Mr. Churchill, at least, is no friend, but this is no time to denounce capitalist oppressors and imperialist war makers.

Still, Stalin can't be very happy over the situation. He must know that most of the people of England and America would shed no tears if Hitler could be bought off at the expense of Russia. Some might say that an arrangement would not last which would free the conquered nations in the west by giving Hitler new provinces in the east, but at least there would be few moral scruples in western Europe or America against such a deal. Those who did not care to fight to save their allies, the Czechs, from the German oppressor can hardly be expected to feel bound to fight for the Ukrainians, who would merely be exchanging one oppressor for another.

This new alliance of ours is a strange one. It is built upon dislikes and distrust. So far as the American people are concerned they have not approved it or consented to it.

RAILROAD WAGES.

The railroad labor unions have asked a 30 per cent increase in the pay of operating employés and a 30 cent an hour increase and 70 cents an hour minimum for nonoperating employés. The proposal has been rejected by the railroad managements and strike votes are now being taken by the various unions concerned. Meanwhile, as the law requires, efforts toward mediation are being undertaken.

The conduct of the negotiations thus far reflects no great credit on any of the parties concerned. It seems pretty clear that the unions are asking for more than they expect to get and it is not to be seriously doubted that the railroads are willing to concede something of an increase. Probably the unions are counting upon political influence to give them an edge. Neither party expects a strike, because both parties know that a strike would disorganize the national defense effort and would antagonize both the public and the national administration.

It's too bad that a settlement has not been reached by direct negotiation. Few of the railroads at present can afford to pay considerable wage increases, because few of them are more than a couple of jumps ahead of the sheriff. The armament boom has improved railroad earnings somewhat but not enough to pay anything like the 30 per cent raise. On the other hand, the railroads could afford to make substantial concessions if the unions would agree to drop some of the arbitrary rules which increase costs of operation. This the unions have shown little or no disposition to do.

Their position is understandable, of course; men do not like to give up advantages, particularly when they have long been recognized as the custom of the trade. That is an understandable position, but it is not a reasonable one for men who are asking higher pay from employers who haven't the money. In such circumstances the common sense procedure is to give more in order to get more.

The railroad management complains, for example, that the existing rules defining a full day's run were reasonable in relation to the speeds which prevailed a generation ago but are unreasonable in relation to the speeds which are now scheduled. The engineer who takes the streamliner from Lincoln to Hastings, Neb., so it is said, gets a month's pay for 53 hours on duty, which is to say a month's pay for fewer than 11 five-hour days.

If the railroad employés would agree to modify some of the rules which add greatly to operating costs the railroad might find it easy to concede pay increases.

SILK FOR ARMS, NOT LEGS.

When the break in trade relations with the United States came Japan was prepared with huge supplies of the strategic articles from this country which she had been accumulating for about eight years. These consisted principally of scrap iron and petroleum products. There are probably few who are aware of the extent to which Japan has gone in stocking up in anticipation of a break with America.

Very little iron ore is mined in Japan. The principal import sources have been China, Straits Settlements, and Johore province in Malaya. None of these would be available in the event of hostilities with the world powers. Moreover, in steel making the Japanese have been using more scrap iron than pig iron. A large pile of scrap was therefore of the utmost strategic importance. That could be obtained only in the United States.

In 1929, a year of prosperous business there as here, Japan imported 208,000 tons of scrap iron from the United States. Two years later came her first attack upon China, and Uncle Sam first began to show his teeth. This put the Japs upon notice, and as soon as resistance was overcome in Manchuria they began to stock up with old American metal. In 1933 over a half million tons of scrap iron was brought in from the United States, two and a half times as much as in 1929. In the next three years this was raised to more than a million tons a year.

In July, 1937, Japan began a new venture in China. The Roosevelt administration took a strong position in criticizing the Japs, culminating in the President's sensational speech in Chicago in which he talked about "quarantine" and "positive endeavors" against aggression. The Japs promptly stepped up their purchase of scrap in the United States. The total for the year 1937 was 1 million 872 thousand tons. Finally in 1939 over 2 million tons were imported from the United States, the equivalent of 10 years' supply at the high 1929 rate.

The Japanese have acquired similarly great strategic stores of gasoline from this country. In 1940 alone they doubled their purchases here, and in the first three months of 1941 stepped up their importation of American gasoline to four times the record breaking 1940 rate.

Meanwhile, what was the United States government doing to build up stocks of Japanese goods essential to our defense? Silk is important in military preparedness. It is indispensable for parachutes, cartridge bags, and the like, where a fiber of the greatest strength is needed. In strength, elasticity, and durability there is no fiber which compares with silk. Practically all our supplies must come from Japan. There has been a lot of talk at Washington about laying up stocks of strategic materials, and the ordinary citizen would conclude that the talk had been followed by action.

So far as silk is concerned we now know that was not true. Japan had huge supplies and was looking for a market, without success. While Japan was buying all that scrap iron and gasoline she would have made us a very attractive deal for all the silk we could possibly need for defense.

But the Roosevelt administration failed us in silk, just as it failed us in so many other items of defense. It neglected to provide silk for the national defense, and when Japan cut off the flow of her products to the United States the government, having no supplies of silk of its own, was obliged to take from the stocking factories the silk they had acquired for their own use. The silk stocking crisis is entirely the result of official incompetence. In foresight the Roosevelt administration is no match for Tokio.

COSTLY VICTORIES.

The bill for the 18 month extension of army service was carried in the house without a vote to spare. The next day, by a vote of 254 to 51, the house insisted upon its version of the property seizure bill, a somewhat milder measure than had come from the conference committee with the blessing of the administration.

The sequence of events is a familiar one to students of parliamentary history. Victories by narrow margins have frequently been the prelude to a rout. The narrow escape disheartens the majority and encourages the opposition. Men who for years have seen no hope of overcoming the dominant party discover their strength, and suddenly become aware that the force of public opinion is behind them.

That has happened many times, but Americans recall with particular vividness the downfall of Lord North toward the close of our Revolutionary war. On Feb. 22, 1782, Gen. Conway introduced in the house of commons a resolution for the termination of the unpopular war against America. When the division was taken the government was found to have defeated the resolution by only one vote. Five days later Gen. Conway renewed his motion and this time Lord North fell.

Perhaps the narrow victory for the unpopular extension of army service will have a salutary result in Washington in 1941. Certainly the house today is far less servile than it was just a few days ago. A new spirit of independence is visible and it may be expected to grow in strength as the election campaign of 1942 grows nearer.

LET MR. SMITH RETIRE.

[Milwaukee Journal.]

President Roosevelt now has an opportunity to take another step in cleaning up the National Labor Relations board. The term of Edwin S. Smith, holdover member from the days when the NLRB was nearer to communism than to Americanism, is to expire this month. Mr. Smith should not be reappointed.

Edwin Smith was exposed by both the Dies committee and the special committee which investigated the working of the Wagner law. He was shown to be a member of the American League for Peace and Democracy when that organization belonged to the communist false front. He was the friend of Harry Bridges and met Bridges in secret conference to plan the labor policies of this country.

Mr. Smith's worst offense, from the standpoint of his official duties, was his attempt to drum up a boycott against the Berkshire knitting mills to win a strike for the union operating in the plant. He, a member of an agency to determine justice between the mills and workers, did that. A federal judge, sitting later in the Berkshire case, denounced Smith for this.

Board Member Smith, more than any one else, was responsible for the bias which the NLRB showed. He packed the board staff with communists and radicals who were incapable of any but biased actions. Thus he promoted strife in labor-industrial relations rather than the peace which the Wagner law contemplated.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

MUTTERED ON MONDAY.

This column's platform is a brave new world that contains something to write about besides the war. [We seem to hear jeers of "Try and find it."]

* * *

A British veteran of the Other War tells us that "jerry," the English soldier's word for his German enemy, is the cockney way of addressing a man whose name he doesn't know. [Similar to the American "Jack" or "Bud."] It contains no derogatory or contemptuous meaning.

* * *

"The cockney," he explained, "is not emotionally ferocious or susceptible to hate hysterias. He did not fall for the hate words that were drummed up by propagandists, such as 'Hun' and 'kraut.' He didn't adopt 'boche' because it came from a foreign language. He took a word out of his everyday talk for the strangers on the other side of no man's land and called them 'jerries'."

* * *

An American veteran says that his fellow soldiers called the Germans "square heads." They adopted, without knowing it, a synonym for the French "boche," altho they did not use it with the French bitterness. "Boche" is a slang abbreviation of "caboche," a hobnail with a rough, square head. An older French popular term for Germans was "têtes carrées," which can be literally translated as "square heads." Its chief implication, however, was obstinacy and slowness of wit.

WATER COLOR: LAKE MICHIGAN.

In jewels of silver, and garnet, and mauve,
Of violet, sapphire and green,
How Color has poured all her treasure-trove
Across this enchanted scene

Of waves that follow, and foam and fall
On the soundboard of the sands
Like cavalry charging a fortressed wall
At a hundred kings' commands!

Flash out from each headlong crest,
The wonder and thunder of conquerors
Who ride without ruth or rest.

A sail whisks white, and a bird
Goes veering to find for its feet a spar—
Like my rhyme, that seeks for a word!

"Independent as a Hog on Ice": Why?

There seems to be considerable doubt concerning the exact meaning of the saying, "As independent as a hog on ice." Where I was raised the allusion did not refer to the nonchalance of the live pig walking on the ice, nor to the packing house variety.

The idea suggested is that the pig is bound by no habits, customs, nor barriers while on the ice, and he is free to slide in any and all directions, which he promptly does.

The reference suggests a person free to use his own will or judgment as he chooses without regard for anything or any one. In my country neighborhood, the saying was usually tacked on a brusque man without due regard for the rights, beliefs, and conventions of others.

FIREFLY LANTERNS.

(See Bob Becker's article in The Tribune, Aug. 13.)

Now a light, and then the dark—
Bright, beguiling lightning spark;
Do you show the way to those
Who are merged in worlds and woes?
Do you carry light to men
Who have lost their way, and then
See your lantern as a sign
That the seasons are benign?
It is only in the dark
You reveal your gleaming spark—
Blooming lotus in the mire,
Bringing scintillating fire.
Those who profit from your boon
Must not look upon the moon.

Lady with a Garden.

Out of our garden comes the svelte green bean, the rotund and rosy tomato, the curly-headed carrot, and the ruby-red beet. Into cans they go—to sit upon our shelves in glistening rows of emerald, gold and crimson. Out of our garden come the flaming nasturtiums, the jewel-toned zinnias, the pastel larkspur. Into vases they go—cobalt blue for the nasturtiums, jade for the zinnias, crystal for the pampered larkspurs. Into our garden goes our time, our labor, our love—and a fair exchange is no robbery.

SULFAPYRIDINE OF VALUE IN ENDOCARDITIS.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BACTERIAL ENDOCARDITIS has long been looked upon as a well nigh hopeless condition. Nevertheless physicians are unwilling to give up and the fight against the malady will continue until victory is assured.

Every now and then, however, a successful case is reported. In a recent issue of the British Medical Journal a detailed account is given of the dramatic fight of a young man of 20. He suffered an attack of rheumatic fever when 9 years of age and a second seizure followed a few years later. Subsequent to the last bout his heart was affected.

In September of 1940, he complained of so much breathlessness, poor appetite, and other signs of cardiac trouble that he was admitted to a hospital. On preliminary examination he appeared tired, listless, and undernourished. His daily temperature was typical of this devastating ailment—an afternoon rise to 103½ degrees F., approaching normal toward morning. A blood culture revealed hemolytic streptococci.

No routine remedy seemed to have the slightest effect until sulfapyridine was started in November. One gram was given every four hours and a sharp improvement was evident within a few days. With but few interruptions the drug was continued in smaller amounts until the following February. Only a few minor upsets disturbed normal progress. When discharged from the hospital the patient was temperature free and the blood count and hemoglobin were practically at par. It was felt by the physicians in charge that occasional follow-up doses of the chemical would provide adequate protection against a possible return of the disease.

It is of interest to note that 241 grams of this powerful compound were given in all. No toxic reactions were noted and only occasional exhibitions of nausea disturbed the march toward recovery.

This case leads us to believe that there is a way out for a generous number of these sufferers if assistance can be supplied over a long enough period, combined with good nursing and nutritious food. Seemingly this patient has recovered. True enough he may still harbor a smoldering infection at some point on one of the heart valves. The future only can tell. At any rate, he was going downhill rapidly until sulfapyridine came to the rescue.

In this same connection, it has been suggested that typhoid vaccine may serve to "soften up" the nests of bacteria on the endocardium [lining of the heart]. This in turn may be followed by a sulfanilamide derivative in sufficient concentration to destroy the exposed germs. Rendered more vulnerable by the vaccine, they are thus open to attack. A series of cases recently reported by Solomon offers reasonable hope that this procedure may be helpful likewise.

One reason why the malady has been looked upon with so much despair is that the "bugs" may lie hidden beneath bits of fibrin firmly attached to the heart leaflets. No healing agent, it is argued, can reach these areas. The case first cited indicates that maintaining a high concentration of the dye in the circulation may be victorious over the crater from which the microbes are erupting.

COMMON SENSE.

Mrs. H. writes: What is common sense? Are we all born with it?

REPLY.

Common sense is defined as practical judgment—that which appeals to most of us as reasonable. Tennyson, in his "Ode on the Death of Wellington," calls the faculty "sublime simplicity." We all possess it, but not to the same degree. Hence, training may help.

UREMIA.

R. S. writes: What is uremic poisoning?

REPLY.

The kidneys eliminate a large amount of body waste. When they become diseased—and hence, unable to function at par—uremic poisoning may follow. In severe cases, the patient may become unconscious. Treatment consists in helping the renal organs to carry on.

HAY FEVER.

M. C. writes: A member of my family is a hay fever sufferer. What suggestions have you to offer?

REPLY.

Your relative is quite fashionable at this time. The hay fever march is on. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this malady.

A NURSE'S OPPORTUNITY.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—A woman who has to make her own way in life faces barriers and difficulties that a man never has to think about. Hence, I would like to share my experience with other women.

Years ago I discovered a career which has paid me never less than $1,200 a year [and sometimes $2,000]—nursing. Demand in this field exceeds supply. Women who are earnest in their desire for independence may be interested. There are only two qualifications: [1] you must be between 18 and 35 and [2] you must have a high school education.

How does a woman go about becoming a nurse? If you have the proper preparation, call on the head of any nurses' school at any hospital having a school for nurses. The average term is 34 months. This period is extremely agreeable as you associate with fine girls, all having the same aims. There are usually recreational facilities and the cost is about $250 for the three years. Room, board, and even uniforms are furnished in some schools.

You are taught on the theory-practice plan. Your lectures and other studies are emphasized by practical work. Apart from your studies, the actual work you do averages about five hours a day. The graduate registered nurse is on duty eight hours a day, unless otherwise arranged. Furthermore, a nurse who leaves her profession and returns later finds age no barrier. Compare this with the "working girl" who tries to come back in her 40s.

ANALYZING THE CONFAB.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—As an American taxpayer, whose taxes go up every time Mr. Roosevelt gets a new idea, I will be delighted with the Roosevelt-Churchill promises provided they mean what they say. For instance, no aggrandizement, territorial or otherwise. Does that mean that the British-American war party will keep hands off the Azores, the Canaries, Dakar, Vladivostok, etc?

If they mean what they say, we should get out of Iceland immediately, where we are not wanted and where our presence does not accord with the freely expressed will of the people. Also Britain should get out of Egypt, Ireland, India, and other places where she is unwelcome.

The war boys promise to respect the right of all peoples to choose their own form of government. Fine: Beginning tomorrow our state department should stop badgering France, a nation fully capable of conducting its own affairs, and I request that Wild Bill Donovan, Stimson, Hull, Welles et al send immediate apologies to Hungary, Ireland, Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia, and a few other countries they have been pestering with their free, unwanted advice.

I see also some mention of freedom of the seas for one and all. That's just fine. I suppose Britain will now quit hijacking other nations' ships, including our own, and quit snatching citizens and pillaging the mails. Unless all this is meant and actually done, these eight points are just a lot of corny talk, pure bunk, and propaganda, and the American people know it.

AXEL BJORNSON.

AGED PARENTS' SUPPORT.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Your paper recently voiced its wrath against "the theories constantly preached by the social workers" to the effect that support of aged parents by their children was old fashioned. The occasion was the commitment of one Stanley Suski to the county jail because he refused to support his parents.

Had you checked the facts you would have learned that County court's action was brought at the instance of social workers of the County Bureau of Public Welfare, acting under the provisions of the Illinois pauper law, and that prosecution of sons and daughters who are financially able to support their destitute parents, and who refuse to do so, is a regularly established procedure.

It is true that the Illinois old age assistance act has underwritten the minimum needs of aged persons, but the fact is that in Cook county only 26 per cent of the population over 65 years of age are receiving old age assistance grants. This leaves 74 per cent who are either self-supporting or are cared for by their families.

It would appear that filial affection and a sense of family obligation have not entirely disappeared. There is the possibility also that the will of the people as expressed in social security legislation is being carried out.

JOSEPH L. MOSS,
Director Cook County Bureau of Public Welfare.

SELLS ANOTHER COPY.

Chicago, Aug. 15—"Boycott The Tribune" is the latest theme song of the war howling coyotes whose watchword has always been: "Let you and him fight." I have purchased and read a copy of The Tribune daily for 30 years. From now on I will buy two copies and give one to a nonreader [that is, if I can find one].

JUST AN AMERICAN.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—I notice that the communists are going to try to boycott your paper.

If this should take place, may I suggest that every real American buy two Tribunes—and they will be bought up as fast as you can turn them out.

Every American owes this to your paper, which is fighting for 83 per cent of our people.

D. H.

BRITISH ON THEIR TOES.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 15.—Apparently they have plenty of steel for nondefense activities in England. I have a kennel; dogs are my hobby, and I've always used English grooming tools. I needed to have some new ones. Naturally I expected to buy domestic ones because, after all, a stripping knife isn't vital to the national defense of any nation. I thought that would be the first nonessential Britain would cease making.

But don't you believe it. In a famous Chicago sporting goods house [of British ancestry] I bought a beautiful pair of British stripping knives in a fine leather case for $3.50, 25 cents under the cost of the American set. You have to hand it to them. While we saps strangle our industry "Britain delivers the goods."

HELEN RUTH HUBER.

LUCAS VOTED FOR IT.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 15.—Your policy seems logical and effective: pointing out strongly that representatives will face election next year and that they represent the people.

Voters now feel their hands are tied. The house and the senate have passed the administration resolution authorizing 18 months' service extension. Lucas, Illinois Democrat, voted for it. Brooks did not. Who is putting us in foreign war? Is that the way the people wanted them to vote? And do the people want their money sent to Russia?

CAROLINE BURRY.

ABUNDANT LIFE ELUSIVE.

Bangor, Mich., Aug. 15.—I am just one of the millions of Americans who have not discovered Mr. Roosevelt's abundant life. To me it is as difficult to find as Ponce de Leon's fountain of youth. I am one of the many who think charity begins and ends at home these uncertain times. I sympathize deeply with the thousands of our citizens who lack the proper food to keep body and soul together so that our New Deal government can keep John Bull's belly full.

LUKE JACKSON.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—May I suggest that the government should take over the expense of postage for letters sent out of camp by the draftees.

They deserve to get this free. They gave up plenty; let the government spend some money for postage. It has spent money foolishly, so let some go to the draftees.

JOINT TENANCY.

Maywood, Ill., Aug. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I am a joint tenant with a relative on a piece of property and would like to know if said property can be sold without my signature.

2. Where can I learn if there has been a lien placed against a property?

3. Where can I learn if the deed to said property was the old fashioned abstract? Also can you inform me if the place is sold [4] what it would cost to change abstract to a guarantee title.

When I had my house changed to an FHA mortgage I received a guarantee title and [5] they kept the original mortgage, which was 30 years old.

6. I would like to know if I am entitled to the old mortgage agreement also.

M. I.

1. The relative's half interest can be sold, but in general, a purchaser would not pay the full price for such an undivided share.

2. Examine the records in the recorder's office.

3. The deed is never an abstract. These are different things. The person in possession of the abstract is the best source of information as to its nature.

4. You can get an estimate from the title company.

5. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing the reason why they kept it.

Sally Says the Time Is Now for Party Letters

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

You liked the party news I had for you in the Sunday TRIBUNE, didn't you, boys and girls?

The large stack of letters which greeted me this morning was sure proof you all approved of my choice of our next party. It's to take place on Aug. 28, and 50 boys and 50 girls will be my guests.

It's always fun to slip into a cool theater and be entertained for an hour or two, and when the star of the film is one of your favorites, it's even better. I know how much all boys and girls like Jack Benny, and I'm positive you'll enjoy every single minute of his latest film, "Charley's Aunt," now playing at the Chicago theater.

Since I can't take all the boys and girls who'd like to come to this movie, I'm going to try to select the youngsters to whom such a party would mean the most. If you'd rather see a ball game, then you probably wouldn't be very anxious to come—but if you think you'd enjoy this comedy, you're just the child I want as my guest. All you have to do is write a letter that will convince me that you'd have a perfectly swell time watching Jack Benny, so winning an invitation shouldn't be hard for real movie fans.

After telling me why you'd enjoy this party, remember to add your full name, your address and your age. You must write every single line of it all by yourself and mail it so that it will reach me no later than next Thursday morning. Please don't ask for invitations for your friends; have them write too, if they want to come.

The address is Sally Joy Brown THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Dress and Suit Duet Basis of Fall Wardrobe

BY REA SEEGER.

A two piece dress suit, we predict, is going to be the backbone of every well planned fall and winter wardrobe. First showings of these smart twosomes are cheerful, not only because of the exciting new colors, the clever, different styles and models, but also because of the modest price tags on most of them.

There are any number of dull blacks, skilfully tailored without looking too prim. The skirts are youthfully pleated to swing gracefully as you walk, the jacket appreciably longer than last year, with bright, new ideas in pockets, collar lines, and trim devices.

There are stunning colored duets in taupe, in gold color, in beige, in brown and a young purple, and one model in a beautiful shade of American beauty wool, even tho more in price, is well worth every penny asked. Some of these suits have bands of velvet accent, some have a bit of flashing embroidery like a fanciful bow knot in gold thread high on the shoulder line and some have intricate designs of braiding down the front and a concealed zipper to make the coat hug the figure lines.

Two piece suits such as these provide the all-purpose outfit with which to play your accessories. You will wear such a suit with a dramatic new fall hat as soon as the first fall chill descends upon the town. Later you will wear such a suit with one of the high fashion new fur muffs, or with a fur piece; still later with a winter coat of brilliant contrast color, or a fur jacket or swagger coat.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

The mother of a small girl wants to bleach her hair. She's a blue-eyed child, fair skinned, whose hair since infancy was extremely light. Now it's darkening, quickly and certainly, and her mother wants to take her to the beauty shop for bleaches, but father says "No."

We're on father's side. It seems to us that a child of six is much too young to be burdened with bleached hair. There are objections from the aesthetic point of view. Bleached hair is hardly an appropriate frame for such a little girl's face! And there are strong objections from the practical side.

Bleaching is not as risky as it used to be. Properly done, and with the proper care of the hair in between applications, it won't take the toll of hair beauty that is used to take. Nowadays it can be done with success over a long period of years. But it does seem as though starting at the age of six would be pushing luck too far. If it were kept up, we'd hate to think what the texture of her hair would be like when she was twenty!

Keeping the little girl's hair well cleansed and so well brushed that it is charged with life and luster seems to us to be the extent of the mother's responsibility. The charm of childhood is simple naturalness; we can't think of many things that would shatter it so thoroughly as bleached hair.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 17.—Sunday—To the Château Elysee for Edith Wakeman Hughes' breakfast for Lily Pons, and the guests from the art, theater, and music worlds make it a veritable salon with scrambled eggs. . . . Miss Pons, here for a bowl concert, is tanned, rested, and healthy after three months of loafing and gardening in Connecticut. Hubby Andre Kostelanetz is still in New York for a broadcast tonight, but he'll stratoline out immediately afterward and be here for orchestra rehearsals tomorrow. He has to catch up with his touring wife by air each week. Fortunately, she says, he likes flying. She can't take it. Gets airsick. . . . Lily is eagerly awaiting her fall engagement with the San Francisco Opera in "Daughter of the Regiment," for in her experienced opinion Frisco is the best opera town in the world and has the finest opera house.

Monday—A day off—but a day spent moviegoing. In the afternoon to the preview of "The Little Foxes," and in the evening to an RKO projection room for a view of "The Devil and Daniel Webster," which is now called "All That Money Can Buy." "Foxes" seems a shade better than it was on the stage, and Patricia Collinge's performance is an impressive improvement over her playing of the same rôle on Broadway. A bit more time has been spent making one acquainted with her character, it seems to me, so that when her drinking-confession scene comes along it appears more natural. I hear that William Wyler shot this one scene 30 times, trying everything from underplaying to overplaying, until he and Miss Collinge hit it right. . . . The "Devil and Daniel Webster" picture is splendid and I think it's Walter Huston's best performance on the screen. Edward Arnold makes a remarkably fine substitute for Thomas Mitchell, who was seriously injured during the first few days of shooting. [Tommy, by the way, is around town again, looking none the worse.]

Tuesday—Away from movies for a change and to Venice, where Eyre Powell and Harvey Walters are making some bathing beauty pictures for the Mardi Gras. They have planted two prop palm trees on the beach [nature, says Eyre, rarely plants palm trees with an eye to camera values] and they are working in a great welter of paper streamers and bathing beauties. Powell, an old hand at picturing rotogravure babes, doesn't bother with names. He just says, "hey, black girl, two inches to the left"—and the girl in the black bathing suit moves accordingly. The California rotogravure bathing beauty industry is completely distinct from the movies, and film gals rarely appear—but many a girl has broken into the movies by way of the sands of Venice. . . . In the evening to the Pons concert at the bowl and it's very pleasant. A sellout crowd of nearly 24,000 is on hand—and at least a million crickets which add a piquant overtone to the music. At one point an airplane drones overhead—maybe a bomber bound for the wars; and I get to thinking somebody ought to write a special Hollywood bowl song titled "Lo, Here the Gentle Lockheed."

Wednesday—A day at the desk, with time out for lunch at Mike Romanoff's with Humphrey Doulens, who is mothering a number of concert stars thru their tours. He says life in Connecticut ain't what it used to be. Once when you got home you were Away From It All, but now so many musicians have bought estates there that you might just as well be at the office. If the help leaves or the plumbing springs a leak or the furnace breaks down, just call Humphrey and he'll take care of it . . . but he enjoys it, just the same.

Thursday—To 20th-Fox to watch John Kimbrough practicing on a horse for his debut in a western, and to see Walter Huston, Walter Brennan, and Eugene Pallette toiling in a hot backlot swamp for "Swamp Water." . . . And then on a stage to watch Ty Powers and Betty Grable shoot a new ending for "A Yank in the RAF." The original ending had Ty dying in a crash, but sneak preview audiences squawked. So now he gets out of the crash with a busted arm and a lame leg, and his Betty there to nurse him back to health. Hellzbelliz! Many a guy would take on a broken back and a fractured skull if Grable could be around to comfort him.

Friday—Another day of work at the desk, altho it's really a day off. Vacation time approaches and loose ends loom—well, if not loom, waggle. . . . With the David Hempsteads for dinner, and Dave says either George Stevens or H. C. Potter will direct his "Joan of Paris," which will serve as film debuts for Michele Morgan and Paul Hernreid [who has been rechristened Paul Henried].

Saturday—A morning batting out a page on Bette Davis, and a pleasant lunch at the Beverly-Wilshire with the Arthur Crawfords, Sr. and Jr., and in the afternoon Dave Kapp phones a new limerick, and to dinner at the Bob Speers' with the G. La Cava's and sundry Universal Pictures folk.

Pianist of 13 Displays Skill in Grant Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A little girl of 13 with a serious face and a great blue ribbon in her curls was the featured artist at Grant park last night. This was the Teresa Sterne who last summer jarred the New York critics out of their professional calm when she appeared as piano soloist in Lewisohn stadium with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra.

Last night she half ran, half walked onto the stage to keep a rendezvous with Walter H. Steindel and his orchestra. Her appearance and manner had the audience rooting for her even before a note had been played. When she got to the keyboard she very quickly proved that appearance and manner are only two of her qualities.

She tackled the Tschaikowsky concerto as fearlessly as if it were "Chop Sticks," and gave out its big opening chords with the confidence of a veteran. Soon opportunities came for her to display her fluency, too, and she proved herself the possessor of a technique that can take the most ticklish turns without disaster.

But by far the most important of the things which her performance revealed was the beginning of a genuine feeling for the contour and the meaning of a phrase. There were places in the second movement which had an eloquence amazing in one so young.

In response to cordial applause Teresa gave a delightfully perverse and girlish performance of one of Chopin's A-Flat waltzes. She followed the waltz with a light, skilful performance of Liszt's "Gnomenreigen."

Certainly Teresa has great talent. What kind of musician she will turn out to be depends on what sort of human being she becomes when she grows up. The depth of her adult nature and the keenness of her mature intellect will be the deciding factors.

The Fleet's In; Lake Genevans Host to Regatta

BY JUDITH CASS.

"THE Marines have landed and have the situation well in hand" is the word from Lake Geneva, Wis., which literally will be overrun with sailors all this week. Several hundred yachtsmen have arrived for the 44th annual regatta of the Inland Lake Yachting association, filling every available guest room around the lake.

Special docks and runways were constructed at the Lake Geneva Yacht club to accommodate the visiting A, C, and E class yachts taking part in the classic. The starting gun will boom at 9:45 o'clock this morning, and there will be no end of races, luncheons, suppers, dances, and other parties until the Trophy dinner-dance on Friday night at the Big Foot Country club.

Chief Judge of Regatta Visits at Black Point.

The chief judge of the regatta, Herbert L. Stone, of the New York Yacht club, is staying at Black Point, the summer home of Mrs. Otto L. Schmidt and her daughter, Mrs. William F. Petersen. Also at Black Point are John R. Kimberly of the Neenah-Nodaway Yacht club; William K. Winkler of the Pine Lake Yacht club; Joseph Quarles of Milwaukee, and Fred Kasten and Walter M. Sprinkman of the Cedar Lake Yacht club. Mrs. Schmidt's son, Ernst C. Schmidt, is secretary-treasurer of both the Inland association and the Lake Geneva Yacht club.

There will be a dinner-dance tomorrow night at the Big Foot club, and parties on Wednesday and Thursday nights at the Lake Geneva Country club. Miss Suzanne Warner, the Rawleigh Warners' subdebutante daughter, is giving one of the largest parties at the Trophy dinner-dance, having invited 50 or more of the young sailors to be her guests. Miss Warner is entertaining for her house-guest, Miss Sara Booth Miller of Washington, D. C. The girls are roommates at Dobbs Ferry.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward M. White, whose home is near the yacht club, are having a houseful of guests this week, and are giving a number of small luncheons and teas. Edward Jr. is putting up a number of young sailors, and his elder sister, Miss Barbara White, is entertaining Miss Dorothy Herbst and Charles E. Ford II. Mrs. Alfred O'Gara and her son, Gordon, also are staying with Dr. and Mrs. White.

Lake Geneva Gardeners Keep to Appointed Round.

Col. and Mrs. William N. Pelouze, Mr. and Mrs. A. Frederick Gartz Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vilas Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Sills all have guests for the racing events.

Not even race week can interrupt the program of the Lake Geneva Garden club, however. It will meet on Wednesday at the House in the Woods, the summer home of Mrs. William M. Spencer, to hear a talk by Elmer Nielsen, the orchid specialist who is in charge of Lewis E. Myers' famous orchid hothouses at the lake.

At a tea yesterday afternoon in their home in Winnetka, Mr. and Mrs. W. Frank Copeland announced the engagement of their daughter, Annette, to Dixon D. Moorhead of Richmond, Va. The wedding is planned for late September or early October.

Miss Copeland was graduated from the Roycemore school and from Northwestern university. Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Moorhead of Belvidere, Ill., received his degrees from the University of Illinois and the Kent College of Law.

Marvelous Circus Presented for and by Children at Camp

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

"The greatest show on earth" was given yesterday at Camp Algonquin. To 400 excited children and mothers this description was an understatement. You see, it was no ordinary circus. It was one in which most of them achieved the ambition of their lives. They were the circus, the clowns, and the acrobats, the trained ponies and dogs, the cowboys and Indians, the elephants and the trainers, the performers, and the audience.

In addition, it was the high moment of a wonderful vacation spent on a glistening bend of the Fox river, 40 miles from the dirt and heat of their tenement sidewalks. Like hundreds of underprivileged children and needy mothers before them this summer, they had spent two weeks at the camp as guests of the United and the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

But yesterday, they weren't just well-fed, happy campers. They were circus folk.

"Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, for the greatest show in the world," cried the barker, a slender, black haired girl in riding trousers and a tailored white blouse which complemented the new tan of her complexion.

"You are about to see acts that you have never seen before. We have penetrated the wildest jungles for wild animals and we have traveled the four corners of the earth for our freaks of nature. It will be exciting, marvelous, and stupendous."

With that the band began. The music was a conglomoration of sounds from wash boards, dish pans, combs, waste baskets, and dust pans played expertly by a score of grinning mothers in startling costumes.

Out tumbled cheesecloth elephants, cardboard ponies, tissue paper poodles, and baby clowns. The show was on under the big top of the country sky. "That's my sister," screamed one little boy as he watched an eager, if not polished, acrobat. For the moment he had forgotten that he was a strange animal with big leather ears that flopped in the wind. He was only a little boy seeing his first circus.

Two giant French poodles, who turned out to be tiny children beneath the masks, jumped thru hoops with alacrity, climbed ladders, and went thru amazing tricks. An unrehearsed moment occurred when one of the dogs yelled, "Hey, I can't see the hoop." Another tiny disaster happened during the wild war dance of a band of little Indians. One painted, little fellow spotted a penny in the ring. He stopped dancing immediately and bent to pick it up. The braves tumbled over him in a heap of feathers.

But the show went on to a successful climax and when it was over there were the sideshows to be seen for the price of a free ticket. There were hula dancers in straw skirts, the strongest man in the world who held up two tin cans, a snake charmer with a paper snake, the most padded woman in the world, Siamese twins poured into the same dress, and a woman with a tissue beard.

There were games of chance, darts, archery and a turtle race entitled "The Indianapolis Speedway." Strange things were to be seen in the Believe It or Not exhibit, the Hairless Dog, a frankfurter; the Ruins of China, a broken dish; Paradise on Earth, a pair of dice on a heap of earth, and Ancient Greece, a burnt out candle.

And to top it all there was ice cream, too, to be had for a free ticket. The ninth annual Camp Algonquin Circus was indeed the strangest, if not "the greatest show on earth."

Ravinia Closes; String Quartet Interest Strong

Two concerts by the Budapest string quartet. Presented at Ravinia park on Saturday evening, Aug. 16, 1941, with Dudley Powers, cellist, as assisting artist; and on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 17, 1941, with Benny Goodman, clarinetist, as assisting artist.

The Saturday program:
Quartet, D major, opus 18, No. 3 ..... Beethoven
Quartet, F major ..... Ravel
Quintet, C major, opus 163 ..... Schubert
The Sunday program:
Clarinet quintet, A major, Köchel No. 581 ..... Mozart
Quartet, C-sharp minor, opus 131 ..... Beethoven

BY CECIL SMITH.

An audience of 2,853—undoubtedly the largest number of listeners ever gathered together for a chamber music concert in this region—heard the closing concert of the 1941 Ravinia festival at Ravinia park yesterday afternoon. The program was the last of four by the Budapest String quartet, with Benny Goodman appearing as assisting artist in the Mozart clarinet quintet.

When one considers the desultory history of chamber music in Chicago, the attendance figures for last week at Ravinia are nothing short of sensational. The four concerts attracted a grand total of 7,594 people, an average of 1,898 a concert. Last year the total attendance at six programs by the Pro Arte quartet was about 2,000, or 853 fewer than came to yesterday's single concert!

The response of the musical public has been no less amazing than its willingness to attend. Never in my experience has a chamber music audience burst into a tremendous roar of approval when a string quartet returned to repeat a movement that had just been played, as Saturday evening's audience did after the Budapest players and Dudley Powers had completed the Schubert C major quintet. Stamping and cheers have been regular features of the audience's reaction at all four concerts, and the enthusiasm has fully equalled the excitement created by the most brilliant orchestral performances. The Ravinia festival committee has done Chicago a wonderfully good turn by scheduling this week of chamber music, for thousands of skeptical listeners have learned to enjoy it for the first time.

The two week-end concerts were memorable events. On Saturday evening the Budapest Quartet played Beethoven's Opus 18, No. 3 quartet with inimitable spirit and brightness, and accomplished miracles with the scintillant and delicate colors of the difficult Ravel quartet. With the collaboration of Mr. Powers as second cellist, the players presented the Schubert quintet, one of the sublime masterpieces, in a manner so rich in understanding and so evocative in mood that I am actually afraid to write about it, lest I spoil the memory of a perfection one seldom encounters in musical performance.

Mr. Goodman, with his clarinet, made an honest job of his share in the Mozart quintet yesterday. He displayed a reasonable mastery of his instrument and a great desire to coöperate with the other members of the ensemble, but the actual result, when all is said and done, was pallid. The rest of the program was admirably played, tho there can hardly be much doubt that Brahms' A minor quartet is not more than one-tenth as good as Beethoven's magnificent quartet in C-sharp minor.

Engaged

MISS MIRIAM BARTLETT.

The engagement of Miss Miriam Bartlett and Mac Marsh Butterfield of Nashville, Tenn., was announced by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney F. Bartlett of Winnetka, at a supper given at their Sylvan Beach, Mich., summer home last night.

Miss Bartlett made her debut in 1938, after attending St. Catherine's school in Richmond, Va., and the Garland school in Boston. The year following her debut, Miss Bartlett completed the Volunteer Gray Lady course and later entered the National College of Education.

Mr. Butterfield is the eldest son of Mrs. A. D. Butterfield. He attended Peabody School for Boys in Nashville, was graduated from Berkshire school in Pittsfield, Mass., and attended business school the following year. He is now in business in Muskegon, Mich. No date has been set for the wedding.

Named Queen of Illinois Czecho-Slovak Festival

Miss Evelyn Mladek, 21 years old, 2624 South Sawyer avenue, last night was named queen of the 65th annual festival of the Illinois grand lodge of the Czecho-Slovakian Society of America. The outing was held in Pilsen park, 26th street and Albany avenue. Miss Mladek will be given a trip to Hollywood, Cal., as a prize. Nearly 10,000 persons attended the festival. The program included games and sports, dancing, singing, and speeches.

Berkshire Musical Festival Ends After Record Attendance

Stockbridge, Mass., Aug. 17 (AP).—The eighth Berkshire symphonic festival, which broke records for attendance, came to a close today with Serge Koussevitzky and his Boston Symphony presenting a Russo-Finnish program. Altho the "music shed" at Tanglewood seats only 6,000 persons, there were 13,000 in the audience.

This year's nine concerts were attended by 87,000 persons—exceeding last year's record by 20,000. In addition, a benefit performance last Friday drew 8,500, and 10,500 persons heard the three Saturday morning rehearsals. Next year's festival will certainly be held, officials said today, unless international conditions unexpectedly interfere.

"A Debt Is Paid"

By Olga L. Rosmanith

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

INSTALMENT XXXI.
UNCONVINCED.

Kathleen choked down a mouthful of the ice cold fruit cup. It had a taste of wine in it—or was it brandy? Stokes smiled at her with his irritating assumption of understanding.

"Don't let it worry you. There are compensations in everything. Even in the split personality. Let us talk of something more agreeable."

Kathleen seized on the first thing that came to her. "Yes, let's. I heard you had some black spaniel puppies. I'd love to see them. My grandmother's old dog died. He was fretting for her. I'd like to have a dog of my own at Lakes End."

"Too bad I didn't know before. I've already sold them all."

"Buy one? No. It will be my pleasure to give you the best one."

The trees moved in one of the landscapes and a door swung open. The housekeeper entered with a service wagon on wheels, cleared the plates and served the entrée. The dinner was epicurean, but not heavy. It was quickly served and soon over.

She preceded him up the wide shallow stairs to a lighted room with the door standing open. This, too, had the windows shrouded against the twilight. For a moment she thought it was domed with glass, but it was an arched painted ceiling. A glowing blue, silvered with moon and stars. All around the room bookshelves lined the walls, and magazines were arranged neatly round a large circular reading table.

A coffee tray with the coffee bubbling in a glass globe, frail cups in filigree holders, liqueur decanters and tiny glasses already awaited them there.

Kathleen saw at once that this was his collection of mystery and crime literature, from detective stories to bound police records, from horror magazines to the most erudite works published on the science of detection and criminology.

"This is a wonderful room, too," she said lightly, her ears suddenly full of the thunder of her heart beating.

He closed the door behind them and swung a deep blue leather chair round for her. She sank down in its soft embrace while he stood at the table and poured the coffee.

"I find it wonderful," he agreed, "here I can concentrate for hours. It's absolutely soundproof."

She had thought how strange were the things that went on behind the faces of ordinary people. Now she thought how strange were the things that went on behind the façades of ordinary houses. A house telephone indicator buzzed. Stokes lifted it and listened.

"No, thank you, Mrs. More. That's all . . . yes, certainly you may. Good night."

He put the instrument down and returned to the coffee tray.

"My housekeeper doesn't live in. She's married. Anyhow, I prefer to live alone. If you need anything more, I can wait on you myself."

He did not look at her as he told her indirectly that the housekeeper was departing, but she saw the tight, knowing little smile on his face as he held a liqueur decanter to the light. Kathleen looked at the silver faced, silver rayed clock set in a panel between the books. Twenty minutes to 9.

Her discomfort was childish and silly. Even if Toby were not going to ring at 9:30 to check up on her progress, she would be perfectly safe.

Had he not himself said he cared for nothing obvious—but the elegant, the subtle, the bizarre? He set a tiny cup of coffee on the coffee table by her chair and offered her the sugar to help herself.

"Now we can discuss our theories of the murder and draw our conclusions in peace," he said.

Kathleen's heart responded to this harmless remark with a wild, painful beat. The house was the home of a civilized human being, its food, wine, and service that of a self-indulgent bachelor who did himself well, and there was nothing very unusual about this library of crime. Probably hundreds of good citizens had one more or less complete, including ministers of the gospel, doctors, dentists, and other law abiding connoisseurs of crime such as university professors. She breathed deeply and slowly to recover her composure and told him she preferred her coffee without sugar.

She refused also the liqueur. "If I am to think I must keep a clear head."

Her head was certainly clear, but her nerves were tingling with a terrible excitement. The list of words she had worked on for hours lay in the small blue evening bag in her lap. She was determined to use them if he gave her the slightest opportunity.

He sat in the deep chair opposite and looked at her thoughtfully. His light eyes would always be against him, but he could not help that, she thought. He was attractive when he was laughing. It was that strange smile, half cunning and half witless that made him look capable of putting his morbid learning into action.

"You're one of the prettiest girls I ever saw," he said.

Odd how this reassured her. It was possibly the presage of trouble, but there are degrees of trouble to those who have touched bottom.

"Thank you for a nice compliment," she replied without coquetry. She had found sincerity the quickest way to check false hopes in a man.

"Too bad you had such a raw deal. Better forget the fellow."

"You're inconsistent. Last time we talked you said you liked him."

Stokes seemed to be sincere and serious himself.

"I do. Even if he did it. I understand the red impulse to which a man can be driven." He gestured to the tiers of books. "But it's a hopeless situation for you to cling to."

"This isn't my idea of a helpful discussion," she said.

He pushed a cigaret box along the big table to her and she took one. He leaned towards her with a lighter, then lit one for himself. Kathleen's nerves relaxed.

"I'm going to confess, Miss Murray, I offered to help you in order to get you here. I haven't any help to give. I seized on what looked like a chance to get to know you better."

"Don't tell me you think Hugo's guilty!"

"That's exactly what I do think. Men are men, you know, and Jeanie was a spirited little devil. She would go after him if she wanted him. Easy enough in those hotel cabins. Then you came along, offering something more satisfying than a temporary affair—"

Kathleen's anger banished fear.

"I hope you don't mean my money."

"Indeed no. Hugo was an intellectual. His versatility, originality, and power of expression were a continual pleasure and amazement to me. A fine fellow. Jeanie might amuse him, but he would look for something of his own quality in a wife. He found then that he had involved himself with a determined, self-willed girl."

"You're as bad as that pompous Vreeland. You don't know a thing, but you've got it all mapped out."

"Vreeland's speech was pretty good I thought. You don't know anything either, Miss Murray. Now be honest. What do you really think?"

His eyes were on her like pale fires, and his question reminded her of her errand. It seemed a little foolish now. She smiled and shrugged her shoulders.

"I don't think at all because Hugo chooses to conceal something he knows for his own good reasons. I know he is innocent because I have faith.

"That illogical faith of a woman who insists a man can do no wrong because she loves him."

"It isn't that, but you may explain it that way if you wish so."

"There's no reason why you should explain yourself at all. Neither should we try to convince each other."

"You could not convince me."

"Time will take care of that. More coffee? No? Then wouldn't you care to look at my library?"

"Yes. I've long wanted to look at that."

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

Aug. 18, 1941.

Keywords—Seven is the number of wisdom and understanding and since you have to pause in the rush of material living to gain these, you can see that this number asks for solitude and a retreating from worldly activities. It is the number of self-analysis, study, perfection. Since 7 has always been associated with religion, you can see that this is a spiritual number, representing philosophy, psychology, and greater understanding. Think of this number as the lull or climax in a cycle of days or months or years. I understand that even the Japanese beetles observe this lull in their activities in the seven year! Avoid fear, depression, a sense of defeat or failure, misunderstanding, moods, introspection and negative retreat.

Silk Substitutes Will Help Keep Legs Beautiful

American women will have to depend on various substitute materials to maintain their legs in the beauty to which they have become accustomed when the present supply of sheer silk hosiery is exhausted—a matter of a few months.

Spokesmen for the hosiery trade said yesterday that the first line of defense against unbecoming stockings probably will be hose made of half silk or nylon and half cotton or rayon, with the part that catches the eye containing the former. But the supply of these half and half hose also will be limited, it is feared, since stocks of raw silk now on hand in hosiery mills are relatively small.

The three silk substitutes available—nylon, rayon, and cotton lisle—are not manufactured in sufficient quantities to meet the fine hosiery demand.

Nylon, which has won public acceptance, is made only in quantities sufficient to supply about a fifth of the total needs, altho du Pont is stepping up the output of its patented product.

The domestic cotton spinning industry cannot supply enough high tensile yarn, it is said, for a sufficient lisle output, and even if the yarn supply could be increased, American spindles are tied up with other orders.

Hosiery circles said, however, that England has inactive cotton spinning machinery that might be used to provide the needed high quality yarn.

According to a department of agriculture experimental laboratory, 150 styles of cotton hosiery have been developed in all weights, and 89 per cent of the 16,200 full fashioned knitting machines in this country could be adapted to knit cotton hose.

Several hosiery makers are considering the production of lisle stockings. Lisle hose retailing at $1 a pair can be made almost as sheer as silk stockings.

All-rayon hose are practicable, and improved rayon yarns satisfactory for stockings are being made. The difficulty with rayon for hosiery, however, is that the fine yarns used are more costly and take longer to make than ordinary rayon. Furthermore, rayon spinners are reported hesitant to change to finer yarns when their equipment already is working profitably and at capacity. They also fear loss of the hosiery market when the silk embargo is lifted.

Hosiery makers have been using about 19 million pounds of rayon yarn yearly, and the Hosiery Manufacturers' association estimates that an additional 22 million pounds of suitable rayon would be needed.

The Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply has ordered the rayon industry to allocate this month and next 7 per cent of its daily output for the hosiery industry and 3 per cent to other silk users, and the OPACS and the Office of Production Management have created a joint commodity section on silk to aid the silk industry in readjusting its operations to substitutes.

Chicago merchants report, meanwhile, that the first panicky rush to buy silk hose has ended, altho sales remain heavy. Some sources say the price has advanced 5 to 10 cents a pair, others that it remains unchanged. But all agree that the wholesale price on what silk hose remains will go up sharply.

How long it will be before Chicago stores run out of silk stockings is problematical, but it is reported that one large hosiery maker has enough silk to continue manufacture to Oct. 25, another to Dec. 1. It is believed that the Chicago silk stocking market will be greatly depleted by Christmas time.

Wholesalers are planning to push sport stockings and knee length stockings of heavy cotton and wool for younger girls and the college trade, hoping that these will catch on for the winter trade, and one wholesaler said some mills now are experimenting with a combination of nylon and rayon, altho having difficulty in combining the two yarns.

One way to use scraps of bread which have dried out somewhat is to cut them into croutons and toast them for use in soups or with salads. Another is to dry them out in the oven and crush them fine for dipping veal cutlets, croquettes, and other foods which may be benefited by a crumb coating.

A third use for dry bread is in bread puddings, many of which are so good to eat that one never would suspect them of being composed partly of leftovers.

APPLE BREAD PUDDING

[Serves Four]

8 slices stale bread, cut in strips
Melted butter
2 cups sweetened apple sauce
Cinnamon, nutmeg
¼ cup raisins or currants
¼ cup maple sirup or maple-flavored sirup

Dip the strips of bread in melted butter and line a baking pan with a third of them. Add half the apple sauce, sprinkle with cinnamon or nutmeg, or both, and half the raisins. Add another layer of bread strips, then the rest of the apple sauce, sprinkled again with spice and raisins, and top with remaining bread strips. Pour maple sirup over all, and bake until brown, 25 minutes, in a 350 degree oven. Serve with cream.

This one is more like the standard bread pudding, which is custardlike:

BREAD PUDDING

3 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
3½ cups dry bread cubes

Combine ingredients and bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes, or until firm. Serve warm or cold with fresh fruit sauce. Chopped, sweetened peaches are 'grand with it!

Vary the flavor now and then by caramelizing the sugar. Use ⅔ cup instead of ½ cup, and melt it with the butter over low heat. Add milk and heat until sugar lumps dissolve, stirring constantly. Then proceed according to the recipe.

Raisins, berries, chopped prunes, bananas, cooked apricots, or other fruit may be baked right in the pudding. The preceding recipe may be varied in all sorts of ways.

BLUEBERRY BREAD PUDDING

Trim crusts from bread and butter both sides. Measure ⅔ cup sugar for 2 cups of blueberries and cook with very little water until berries are tender. Add 2 teaspoons of lemon juice. Now arrange alternate layers of buttered bread and hot berries in a dish, and chill in the refrigerator. The juice from the berries saturates the bread and the result is a good cold pudding to be served with whipped cream. Sliced cake may be used instead of bread.

Here Are Tips on Avoiding Stubbornness

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

What parents call stubbornness often is not that at all, but children's very necessary determination or enthusiasm to do what they have a natural urge to do, in spite of constant frustration by their grownups. I won't attempt to go into the whole subject. All I want to do today is to give some definite, practical suggestions about how to treat a child to avoid arousing this kind of resistance.

Let your child do everything he can, within reason, that does not harm him or any one else. This is to not spoiling him.

Ask him, don't command him, to do things except in an emergency.

He has lived in Chicago for several years and at present is stationed in Virginia with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

At a family dinner party on Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Elliott of Glencoe and Winter Park, Fla., announced the engagement of their daughter, Louise Caroline, to Edward D. Lott of New York. Mr. Lott was here from the east for the party. Both he and his fiancée, who is always called Carol, attended Rollins college. Miss Elliott it a granddaughter of Mrs. Samuel G. Goff of Glencoe and the late Mr. Goff.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bryson of Winnetka have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Harvey Edward Klunder, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Edward Klunder of Wilmette. The wedding is planned for Oct. 25 in the Winnetka Congregational church. Miss Bryson's sister, Beth, became the bride of Edward Angus Powell of Richmond, Va., last year in the same church. Both Miss Bryson and her fiancé were graduated from Denison university.

At the speaker's table will be Sydney G. McAllister, Gen. Robert E. Wood, Leon Stolz, Dr. Charles S. Bacon, Max Epstein, Clay Judson, Lewis Bernays, the British consul general, John Morrison, Dr. Jan Papanek, and Dr. Alexander Brunschweig. Whitney-McIntosh Wedding Is Saturday.

There'll be parties all this week for Miss Eunice McIntosh and Simon Newcomb Whitney, who will be married on Saturday in the Church of the Holy Comforter in Kenilworth. Today two of Miss McIntosh's bridesmaids, Miss Jane Henderson and Miss Ann Bovis, will give a personal shower at the Skokie Golf club. The spinster dinner is set for tomorrow in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William C. Heyn of Dundee, who will be the matron of honor. Mrs. Walter Gilbert McIntosh and her daughter will give the bridal luncheon on Thursday in their home in Wilmette, and that evening the bachelor dinner is to be given.

Last of the parties will be the rehearsal dinner the night before the wedding at the Barrington Hills Country club.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The question of sacrifice bidding is more easily solved at duplicate than at rubber bridge. In the latter game, there is no point in sacrificing to the extent of five or six tricks against an adverse slam that may or may not be fulfilled. At duplicate, however, where even a 10 point saving often changes the match-point score considerably, a sacrifice bid such as that described below often is in order. If it goes wrong, that is, if the sacrificer pays a huge penalty to forestall a slam that would have failed, the result is only one bad board—a far less serious "swing" than would be the case at rubber bridge.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 diamond	1 heart	1 spade
Pass	3 diamonds	4 clubs	4 diamonds
Pass	4 spades	5 clubs	6 spades
Pass	Pass	7 clubs	Double
7 hearts	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

South bid his five card heart suit before his six card club suit because he intended to go very high defensively, and felt that it would be more "comfortable" to show the suits in order of rank. West, it should be noted, made a waiting bid after his partner's jump in diamonds and South's club rebid. West, of course, could have made a stronger bid than four diamonds, but was hoping for confirmation of his spade suit. When it came, he did not dilly-daily, but jumped to a slam in spades. Obviously, the slam would have been cold and would have earned a score of 1,430 points. Altho East and West made a mighty effort to better this score on defense, they could not defeat the seven heart contract more than seven tricks, for a penalty of 1,300 points.

Thus, the sacrifice turned out well on a match-point basis. At rubber bridge it would have been much too dangerous for the commensurate gain. Any slight change of distribution might have defeated six spades, and even if it had been made, North-South would not have been many points the loser from failing to "save."

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 17.—The Chicago Bears scored 41 points today and since it was against themselves, the total could be regarded either as a boost for the offense or a slam for the defense.

It was the first concrete evidence uncovered by the coaches on the potentialities of their 1941 squad, which is up here getting ready to come to grips with the College All-Stars Aug. 28 in Soldiers' field, Chicago.

The Whites, with more veterans than their antagonists, designated the Orange, scored a 21 to 20 triumph. The victory margin was supplied by Joe Stydahar, who booted their points after touchdown. An amazing leaping catch of a high forward pass by Ken Kavanaugh was the thriller of the National league champions' first scrimmage which lasted almost two hours.

Laterals! Beware All-Stars.

After the Whites had started the scoring on a 62 yard drive, the Orange came back with a pass attack from its 20 yard line. Before his spectacular catch, Kavanaugh took a pass, reversed his field, then lateraled to Joe Mihal, who in turn lateraled to Al Balsi, the play winding up on the Orange's 45 yard line. On third down of the next series, Bob Snyder fired a long one. Harry Clark, covering the lanky end from Louisiana, afterwards said he gave up on the play because he was convinced the ball was out of Kavanaugh's reach. But Ken speared it and ran for a touchdown.

There was a lot of passing mixed up in the first White touchdown, too, which may be interesting to the collegiate legions assembled in Evanston. The Whites ran back a punt to their own 38 yard line. Osmanski rammed thru center to the Orange 44. Sid Luckman passed a short one on third down to George Wilson, who lateraled to Osmanski who ran over the goal line.

Wilson Scores Again.

After Kavanaugh's fielding gem, the Whites rushed across two more scores. Scooter McLean of the Orange brought back Bill McAfee's punt to the Orange 35. After Snyder lost ten yards when the busy Bob Nowaskey broke thru, he was hurried on the next passing attempt and Wilson intercepted the ball on the Orange 25 and scored.

The score was 20 to 6 a few moments later after a drive of thirty-nine yards. McAfee raced around his own left end to the Orange 20 yard line. After Clark made nine yards on two running plays, Luckman sneaked to the 9. After Clark took a lateral to the 4, McAfee swept left end, cut back in, and went over standing up. Stydahar ended his perfect kicking performance by again converting.

The Orange came back in the latter stages with a sparkling attack directed by Young Bussey, who played for the Newark Bears last year. The first of their two suc-

A Lyons' Good Luck Charm for the All-Stars

The name of Ted Lyons still is spoken with awe on the Baylor university campus, whence he sprang to the White Sox in 1923. Thus Bob Nelson of Baylor, a member of the college All-Star football squad, is confident his mates received a good luck charm yesterday when Ted presented him the ball last pitched in his victory over Cleveland. Left to right: Dave Allerdice, Ben Sohn, Nelson, Dean McAdams, Lyons, Rudy Mucha, Luke Appling, Ted Pavelec, Art Jones, Augie Lio, and Jack Banta. All are members of the collegians' squad excepting, of course, Lyons and Appling. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

All-Americans Take a Rest; Resume Double Drill Today

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-Star football players rehearsed their plays briefly yesterday morning, a review of a gruelling week of preparations for their battle with the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field a week from Thursday night, and then were excused for the remainder of the day. It was the first break in the two a day program and most of the collegians attended the White Sox-Cleveland double header.

The daily double drills will be resumed this morning and afternoon and continued until the squad has reached its physical peak.

Make or Break Passing Drill.

No schedule for further intrasquad games has been announced but each of them also will be filmed. Despite 14 practices, the All-Stars now are just at the point where they either will develop gradually into the team which most believe will make the battle with the Bears another brilliant page in this series, or fail to realize this high ambition. With several excellent passers, notably Dean McAdams of Washington, Charles O'Rourke of Boston college, and Tom Harmon of Michigan, and with at least two great receivers in Ed Rucinski of Indiana and Dave Rankin of Purdue, the collegians have material for an air game.

Harmon, Jackie Robinson of U. C. L. A., and George Franck of Minnesota are only three of a baker's dozen of shifty, fast backs. But forward passing needs accurate protection. The running attack will collapse without blocking.

Marion Asa Injured.

No one will know just how good the All-Star guards, centers, and tackles are until they collide with the Bears' mammoth linemen on the night of Aug. 28.

The only player now definitely incapacitated—something of a record for a week's drill—is a guard, Marion Asa of Bradley Tech. Asa's ankle was sprained in Friday's scrimmage and the youngster was eliminated just when his aggressive playing had caught attention.

Considerable experimentation has been made at the center position. The number, as well as potential caliber of the tackles, is a concern, but in the final analysis the guards probably will have as much responsibility in checking the Bears' famed man-in-motion system as any group of All-Stars.

Sohn Hurries to Catch Up.

Ben Sohn, who reported Saturday, may help the guard situation provided he can catch up in learning the plays. Sohn was unable to get leave of absence from the marine officers' school until Friday night. He arrived by plane Saturday noon and scrimmaged an hour later.

If necessary, Tony Ruffa, Duke tackle, can be shifted to guard. Several changes in personnel already have been made but these have been dictated by positional requirements of the unbalanced line and single wing back system of attack.

In the unbalanced line the tackles play side by side on offense with a guard and an end on the so-called short side of the center. Linemen adapt themselves readily regardless of the system to which they were accustomed in college. This is not true of the backs. Particularly it is not true of the full backs.

THEY'RE ALMOST GONE!

WYATT MISSES PERFECT GAME AS DODGERS WIN 2

Boston, Mass., Aug. 17 (AP).—Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn right hander, stepped up to the threshold of baseball's hall of fame today—and then the Boston Braves slammed the door in his face.

With one out in the ninth, he tried to sneak a third strike past Phil Masi and the Boston catcher slammed it for a single over second base to ruin Wyatt's hope of becoming the seventh pitcher in major league history to hurl a perfect game.

Dodgers Take First Place.

Wyatt won his game easily tho, 3 to 0, to collect his 16th victory, his fifth shutout, and carry the Dodgers back into first place as Brooklyn had swept the opening contest of a twin bill, 5 to 1, behind Kirby Higbe's four hit hurling.

Wyatt mowed the Braves down and when he wasn't forcing them to pop weakly or tap to the infield, his teammates, particularly Pewee Reese, who contributed a pair of unbelievable stops; Billy Herman, and Dixie Walker saw to it that every Boston threat was canceled.

The crowd of 35,329, some 5,000 of them from Brooklyn, was solidly with the big pitcher as he went into the ninth—his dream game just around the corner—with the chance of being the first to turn the trick since Charlie Robertson of the White Sox did it to Detroit in 1922.

.236 Hitter Ruins It.

Paul Waner opened the inning, pinch hitting for Al Roberge, and swung futilely at a third strike. Masi was next. Wyatt slipped two strikes past him. Maybe he figured Masi would expect him to waste one. He tried to shoot one thru and Masi, who is hitting just .236, slammed it back over Wyatt's head into center field.

The big Georgian slumped dejectedly and there was a stray boo or two from the stands. But Wyatt settled down, struck out Pinch Hitter Bama

CUBS LOSE FIRST TO REDS, 6 TO 3, THEN WIN, 4 TO 2

Root Gains 199th Victory in Second Game.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 17.—The 42 year old Charles Root, patriarch of the National league, today achieved his 199th victory, bringing him one short of his coveted goal. The old timer went into action after his Cub mates had been waylaid again, 6 to 3, by the Reds in the first portion of a double bill, and, altho arm soreness removed him after seven innings of work, he was on the job long enough to have a 4 to 2 decision added to his illustrious record.

There wasn't much to the first half of the meeting except a flock of wasted hits off Bucky Walters, who recorded his 15th achievement of the season, Rookie Paul Erickson being the victim of a batch of bum fielding by the Chicagoans, some of it supplied by himself. The 23 year old Erickson not only pitched fairly well but banged his first homer to get himself into a tie in the seventh inning. A few minutes later the Cubs fell apart defensively, Alumnus Jim Gleeson hit a single with the bases filled, and before the session ended the Reds were in possession of four decisive runs.

Nicholson Is Benched.

A factor which fitted in with Root's pitching in the nightcap was a new batting order and lineup, the second alteration of the afternoon. Phil Cavarretta turned loose five hits against Walters in the first battle. Bill Nicholson was blanked for the 24th time in a row as a cleanup hitter. He wasn't even present for the second struggle, Augie Galan taking his place in right field and Cavarretta getting the cleanup job. Singles by Cavarretta and Galan paved the way to a two run fourth inning against Jim Turner, and the Cubs remained in front to the finish for their fifth victory in 19 engagements.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs got to Bucky Walters for two hits before anybody was retired in the first inning and didn't score, but in the third singles by Hack, Cavarretta, and Stringer produced a run. Mike McCormick opened the Reds' fourth with a double, was bunted to third by Gleeson, and sent home on Frank McCormick's fly to Cavarretta.

F. McCormick's single in the sixth,

It was recalled that Lyons had made four hits against Washington a week earlier, which caused him to remark, "Hittin' is certainly the easiest part of this business."

As Thousands Cheer.

All roads lead to Rome, they said,
In those glamorous days of old,
But the modern version's different,
From all that I've been told;
For come this month's the 28th,
For all of Nero's strumming,
Old Rome will be forgotten
While Soldiers' field is humming.

Will never echo clear
On the shores of old Lake Michigan
That night as thousands cheer;
The only dogs that will rate a thought
At that epoch marking fight
Will be the horde of "hot dogs"
To be devoured that night.

These are the things we've got to keep—
Hold onto with might and main,
Let the battles we fight be friendly ones
Of skill and brawn and brain;
No country is ever in danger
Where clean sportsmanship's the aim,
As symbolized for America
By the All-Star football game!

LYONS DEFEATS FELLER; SMITH WINS IN TENTH

36,090 See Chicago Make It 6 in Row.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The dashing White Sox yesterday vaulted into second place in the American league standings as they whipped the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 2, in the first game of a double header, then battled back to take the second encounter in the 10th inning, 4 to 3. Ted Lyons and Eddie Smith were the winning pitchers, Bob Feller and Al Milnar the losers. A happy crowd of 36,090 saw the inspired Dykes boys march upward and onward in their sixth straight victory and their 15th in 18 decisions since they were in fifth place on the morning of Aug. 3.

There were batting heroes all over the place—Don Kolloway, with six hits, some of them vital; Joe Kuhel, with important slams in the first game and a triple and a single in the second game which absolutely were essential to victory; Myril Hoag, with three singles in the first game and a single and a double that the Sox had to have in the second match. Taft Wright forgot base running troubles with three big singles in the second game. A triple by Luke Appling was important in the first game, and Julius Solters, who drove in the winning run in the second contest, shook off a goat label he had won by forgetting to slide into the plate in the ninth inning.

12th Victory for Lyons.

The victory in the second game was the seventh over the Indians in nine days and they now have beaten the Cleveland malcontents eight straight, and in 14 out of 19 engagements. The Indians beat them 16 out of 22 last season.

Lyons' victory was his twelfth of the season and his fifth straight this year over the Indians after he came out second best in his first 1941 encounter with the Clevelanders.

Smith's victory also was his 12th.

FIRST GAME

The Indians counted once in the first inning of the first game on singles by Boudreau and Keltner and Walker's fly. They wasted a lead off single in the second and two singles in the third and in the fourth registered their second tally on singles by Trosky, Campbell, and Hemsley.

In the first three innings only nine men faced Feller. Then came the fourth in which the Sox were held to one run because of some unhappy base running. Kolloway pushed off with a single. Kuhel grounded to Boudreau, who threw to Mack to force Kolloway, but Mack relayed the ball high over Trosky's head, Kuhel reaching second. Hoag beat out a bunt to Keltner. Wright singled to right, scoring Kuhel, but failed to notice that Hoag had stopped at second and plowed on to that base himself. He was run down. Then, after starting to pitch to Appling, Feller picked Hoag off second.

Sox Tie Score in Fifth.

Double Play Halts Parade.

The Sox made their sixth run in the seventh on a walk to Tresh, Lyons' second hit, Kolloway's sacrifice, an intentional pass and Hoag's single. A double play thru the plate halted the parade.

The Sox added two runs in the ROAD TO PEACE

In a speech on Oct. 23, 1940, President Roosevelt said:

"To Republicans and Democrats, to every man, woman and child in the nation I say:

"We are arming ourselves not for any foreign war.

"We are arming ourselves not for any purposes of conquest or intervention in foreign disputes.

GOLF'S DOUBLE FEATURE SHOW STARTS TODAY

Trials On in Great Lakes, Women's Western.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Today brings Chicago golf fans the opening of the outstanding double header of this or any other season—the inaugural Great Lakes Amateur of the Chicago District Golf association at the Knollwood club and the 41st amateur tournament of the Women's Western Golf association at the Exmoor club. Local galleries will be able to catch both events, since the two clubs are located only 12 miles apart, and the two associations are coöperating so that they are actually being held in conjunction.

Qualifying rounds in both tournaments will be held today over the 18 hole medal play route. The 32 low men at Knollwood will enter the match play beginning there tomorrow with two 18 hole battles, continuing on the same basis Wednesday, and concluding with the 36 hole final on Thursday. In addition to the championship flight, prizes will be awarded for competition in two subsidiary brackets of 16 each.

The Women's Western at Exmoor also will qualify 32 players in the championship side today, with other scorers entering following flights. Match play will begin tomorrow morning continuing until Thursday, when the quarter-finals in the championship struggle will be held in the afternoon. The semi-finals on Friday also will be transacted in the afternoon and the title match on Saturday will be at 36 holes. In addition, Mrs. Charles B. Willard of the home club, president of the WWGA, and her board will introduce two new events, an Auld Lang Syne tourney for all players who participated in women's western events prior to 1925, and a special competition for former WWGA presidents.

If there's any doubt about the caliber of the fields entered in the two tournaments, glance at the following entrants:

GREAT LAKES AMATEUR.

Dick Chapman, Greenwich, Conn.—Chapman, who will defend his National Amateur championship in Omaha next week, obtained a special leave from his post as physical instructor at Maxwell field in Alabama in order to compete here.

Marvin [Bud] Ward, Spokane, Wash.—Ward won the National Amateur at Chicago's North Shore club in 1939 and has won the last two Western Amateurs.

Earl Stewart, Dallas, Tex.—This 19 year old redhead won the National Intercollegiate championship, the NCAA medal, and the driving contest for Louisiana State in June.

Wilford Wehrle, Tam O'Shanter—Former Western Amateur champion, one-time British Amateur quarter-finalist, and a National semi-finalist in 1940.

Ray Billows, Dutchess, N. Y.—Ray, a native of Racine, Wis., like Wehrle, has been in the National final two of the last four years and recently won his third New York amateur.

Gus Moreland, Peoria—Moreland, former Western title holder and Walker cup player, led all Chicago district qualifiers for the National with a 142 that was climaxed by a 68 last Thursday at North Shore.

Freddie Haas, New Orleans, La.—The lanky southerner is a former Walker cup star and won the National Intercollegiate and Western Junior while a student at L. S. U.

WOMEN'S WESTERN AMATEUR.

Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky.—One of golf's finest woman players, Marion has won the Western as well as the association's Derby. Last year she was runner-up for the championship to National Champion Betty Jameson, who is foregoing defense of her Western title in order to concentrate on a third consecutive National next month.

Mrs. Frank Newell, Long Beach, Cal.—Winner of the Western Derby in two of the last three years, including one record-setting performance, the former Elizabeth Hicks will be out to make up for the loss of her Derby crown.

Virginia Ingram, Sunset Ridge—The comely Virginia last month became the first player in history to retire the CWDGA trophy by winning it for the third time.

Mary Agnes Wall, Menominee, Mich.—Miss Wall is coming into her own in a year which has seen her runner-up in both the Trans-Mississippi and Western Derby.

Jeanne Cline, Bloomington, Ill.; Eleanor Dudley, Ridge; Mary Wilder, Skokie, and Georgia Tainter, Farro, N. D. These girls, all of whom made their competitive starts as winners of the WWGA Junior, may well make their elders take notice, before Saturday arrives. Elianae Williams, Bryn Mawr—Elianae has won the state championship the last three years, the CWDGA twice, and was runner-up for the Western in 1939.

SMILIN' JACK—FISHFOOD

Whilraway to Try Again on Chicago Track

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Whirlaway will return to Chicago this week for an attempt to regain some of the prestige he lost last month in the Arlington Classic. He will run in next Saturday's American Derby at Washington Park in quest of a victory which should just about clinch his claim to the championship of the 3 year old division.

Attention, which defeated him in the Classic, has been forced to pass up this race because of leg trouble. One by one, for some reason or other, Whirlaway's rivals have been eliminated, but he goes right on running despite the fact that he has been in training since last winter with only two brief letups.

Opposition Appears Weak.

Tho he didn't defeat much in the Travers last Saturday at Saratoga, it was the best field that could be mustered against him on that particular day in the east. His opposition may not be a great deal stronger in the American Derby. R. W. McIlvain's Bushwhacker, which has been improving steadily, is regarded at the moment as the best of the horses which will run against Whirlaway. Other possible starters are John Marsch's To a Tee and Millsdale stable's Kansas.

Whirlaway probably will be at 1 to 5 odds in this event, but there always seems to be the possibility of an upset in these major stakes at Arlington and Washington Parks. Bushwhacker wasn't so very far back when he took third place in the Classic and he ran well last Saturday in finishing second to Misty Isle in the Sheridan handicap.

He Likes the Distance.

If Whirlaway should add a victory in the American Derby to those he already has scored in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont, Dwyer, Saranac, and Travers, it is difficult to figure out how any other horse could establish a claim to the title as the Lawrence Realization is just about the only important 3 year old event left on the calendar. That is one of Whirlaway's definite engagements and the distance of 1⅛ miles is all to his liking.

Trainer Ben Jones plans to ship the Calumet star from Saratoga today. He is scheduled to arrive at Washington Park tomorrow.

Bears Are Off! Score 41 Points in Camp Game

cessive touchdowns came after a seventy yard drive. McLean went thru center for ten yards and on third down Bussey passed to Siegal to the Whites' 40. Then Bussey connected with Dick Plasman on a short one. He ran to the 15 yard line; then lateraled to McLean, who went over. Plasman kicked the point after touchdown. Bussey continued throwing and one of his passes was taken by Bob Swisher over the goal line from thirty yards back. Plasman again kicked goal.

Minimum of Injuries.

The smooth coördination so necessary to the Bears' success was sadly lacking in spots, but most of the mixups came when new men were in the lineup. The coaches were muttering about missed blocks and boshed up assignments.

Fred Gillies, former professional star who is the Bears' $1 a year advisory coach, worked with Head Coach George Halas and his assistants today. He said Jack Manders, now trying to carve a career for himself as a guard after eight seasons as a full back, looked like the best lineman on the field.

Tomorrow the players—all but four of the 41 saw action—will be told what they did wrong in the scrimmage. On Tuesday night they will have a chance to show their improvement in Kenosha against the Kenosha Cardinals. Some of the gloomier of the Bear followers are worrying lest Johnny Blood's Cardinals score an upset.

WOMEN'S SWIM TITLE CAPTURED BY INDIANAPOLIS

High Point, N. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Little Nancy Merki of Portland, Ore., put a record breaking finish to the AAU national women's swimming meet today, but the team honors went to the Riviera club of Indianapolis.

Fourteen year old Nancy set a new American mark of 11 minutes and 16 seconds for the 800 meters, beating out Betty Bemis of Indianapolis by 10 yards to win individual high score honors with 13 points.

The Riviera club went into today's three events leading the Multnomah club of Portland by 34 points to 20, and when it was all over they led the field with 43. Portland finished second with 31, nosing out the Women's Swimming Association of New York City, which had climbed into second place with 29 points as its relay team retained its 300 meter medley honors.

WINS TENNIS TITLE.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 17 (AP).—Mrs. A. F. McDonald of Chicago defeated Caroline Friel of Portsmouth, 6-1, 6-3, today for the women's singles crown in the Ohio valley tennis tournament.

All-Stars Will Be Tough; Ask Tom O'Boyle!

Tom O'Boyle.

Four years ago two Gary youngsters fresh out of Horace Mann High school debated where to go to college to round out football careers so auspiciously begun.

One of them decided upon Michigan. That was Tom Harmon who blazoned comet-like across the gridiron firmament for the next three years. The other decided to cast his lot with Tulane. He was Tommy O'Boyle and if his name doesn't strike as familiar a ring as that of Harmon, put it down that O'Boyle played up in the line where the headlines seldom penetrate.

Tommy Has the Qualifications.

Down in New Orleans, however, they will tell you that Tommy O'Boyle had all the qualifications for an All-American guard that his high school mate, Harmon, had to make him an All-American half back. Apparently the fans of the nation figured the same way because the two Gary boys will be in the college All-Star lineup in the game with the Chicago Bears on Soldiers' field Aug. 28.

This square jawed, rugged, transplanted Hoosier has grown up in a tradition that a football team is just as good as it thinks it is, and for that reason he believes that this year's collection of All-Stars is going to give the mighty Bears a battle of it.

All-Stars Will Be Tough.

"We've got a great collection of backs here and we've got the linemen to go with them," Tommy observed yesterday as he weighed the All-Star chances. "We've put in a hard first week and learned a lot. I believe by game time we'll really have a mighty tough outfit."

Tommy speaks from the experience gained in innumerable gridiron conflicts. He reported to Tulane as a full back, the position he played all thru high school. But after his freshman year, Coach Lowell Dawson decided that the broad shouldered, chunky 220 pound Gary lad would be of more value to the Green Wave as a guard.

And it was as a guard he earned nation-wide honors during the next three years. He is quick to pay tribute to his line coach, Bill Bevan, the old Minnesota guard, for teaching him just about everything he knows about the position. Tommy must have been an adaptable pupil, for after his graduation last June he was appointed assistant line coach on the Tulane staff.

HUISACHES WIN INTERCIRCUIT POLO TITLE, 15-7

The Huisaches of Houston, Tex., yesterday won the intercircuit polo title by defeating the Ivory Rangers of Detroit, 15 to 7, on Oak Brook stadium field. The Huisaches came from behind to tie the score at the half. The victors are the first team to win the championship four times.

Cubs Divide Double Header with Cincinnati

Frey's walk, and Werber's single put the Reds in front, 2 to 1. Erickson restored the tie with his homer to the left at the start of the seventh and then came the big collapse. Hack fumbled Walters' grounder in the home half. Dahlgren threw late to second on Joost's bunt. Erickson did the same to third on M. McCormick's bunt, filling the bases with none out. Gleeson's single sent Walters and Joost home. F. McCormick beat out a bunt past Erickson, refilling the bases.

Rescuer Mooty's first effort was a wild pitch on which M. McCormick scored and Gleeson counted a moment later on Frey's fly to Cavarretta. A single by McCullough, his third, a pass to Galan, and Cavarretta's fifth hit gave the Cubs a run in the ninth.

SECOND GAME

Hack walked and stole to open the second game and scored on a single by Dallessandro. In the Reds' half, M. McCormick singled and Gleeson walked with one out. Hits by F. McCormick and Werber scored them for a 2 to 1 Red lead. Cavarretta and Galan singled in the fourth. After Dahlgren had fouled out, Scheffing tapped to Werber whose throw to second was dropped by Frey, Cavarretta scoring the tying run. Galan counted on Sturgeon's single.

Hack drew his second pass with one out in the seventh, went to second on Stringer's tap to F. McCormick and home with the last run on Dallessandro's single to center. Cavarretta's drive down the right field line was picked up by a fence leaping fan so became an automatic double, Dallessandro being held at third. Beggs came to Turner's aid and grabbed Galan's grounder to close the inning. Mooty in his second relief appearance of the day didn't give up a hit in the last two innings.

White Sox Win Double Header from Indians

eighth off Harry Eisenstat. A single and stolen base by Solters, an intentional pass to Tresh, a walk to Lyons, and Kolloway's third hit scored the runs.

SECOND GAME

The Indians hopped on Smith in a hurry in the second game. Peters, who had replaced Boudreau after the latter had become ill between games, opened the contest with a double to left. Campbell lined to Hoag, but Walker singled to left, scoring Peters. Walker stole second while Smith held the ball and scored on Heath's single to right. Grimes walked, then Appling threw out Keltner and Mack fanned.

Smith had retired the Indians in order in the fifth and sixth and he got Keltner at the start of the seventh. Mack, who hadn't made a hit in the series, slammed a homer, which hit about six rows up in the lower deck of the left field stands.

Here's the way the Sox tied it up in the eighth: Kolloway opened with a single to right, went to second on Kuhel's bouncer, then stole third. Don scored on Hoag's double to left.

Solters Forgets to Slide.

The game would have ended in the ninth if Solters, who went on to triumph in the 10th, hadn't forgot to slide into the plate. Julius opened with a single and moved up on Kennedy's sacrifice. Turner was given an intentional pass. Smith singled to right, Heath trapping the ball. Heath made a high throw and in getting around Desautels Solters kept on his feet but missed the plate as he ran by it

BLOOM OF HUMAN LIFE FORECAST IN U. S. AND BRITAIN

152 Millions in America by 1980 Predicted.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—The United States and England are entering a period of population expansion, the latest statistics reveal.

Until now many statisticians have maintained that the two countries had passed the period of "200 years in blossom" and that their civilizations were beginning to decline.

Guy Irving Burch, director of the population reference bureau, declares that at the present rate of gain the population of the United States will rise from the present 132 millions to about 152 millions in 1980, providing the country can support and properly educate the 20 million additional children. The birth rate shows an upward trend.

Predicts Higher Standards.

In 1980, he predicts, "the nation will be in a better condition than it is today" with machinery taking a greater and greater burden off the average job, allowing higher wages to be paid and giving the average individual more time and money for recreation and education. In addition, he predicts that by 1980 at least 5 million more people will be in the "productive" age group between 20 and 64 years of age.

Burch declared the principal factor in the population increase is not the number, he added, but the quality of the children to come. At the present time 45 million persons "are existing at a level of living below the requirements for health and efficiency" and two-thirds of the children are born and grow up in this least fortunate bracket of the population.

A Peril to Democracy.

"It does not take much imagination or foresight to see that the uneven distribution of children among economic classes is endangering our national economy, our national defense, and our democratic institutions," Burch declared.

Meanwhile Miss Irene Barnes Taeuber, co-editor of the Population Index, declared that figures reported recently from England, Scotland, and Wales show that the birth rate in England in 1940 was only three-tenths of 1 per cent lower than in 1939 but was much higher than in 1933. The number of marriages in 1940 was the highest on record for the British Isles.

Death Increase Small.

She added that German bombs have apparently not caused any defeatism or as many casualties as might be expected. "The dramatic destructiveness of the all out air war over Great Britain gives an exaggerated impression of the general hazards to life in that country," she said. "Horrible as the events have been, they have affected the total death rate surprisingly little"—an increase of only a little more than 2 per cent in the civilian population.

In the Netherlands, Norway, and other German occupied countries the death rate among civilians has increased by only about 1 per cent, according to the scanty information available.

Watch 'Pet' Cornfield.

Aug. 17, 1941.

A 22 acre field of corn in the south section of the Du Page county farm is giving the farm workers great satisfaction these days. They're watching it closely, measuring its stalks and ears, and making guesses about its probable yield per acre.

The casual farm visitor wouldn't grow enthusiastic over this field because there are hundreds of corn plots in Illinois which will produce higher yields and one field on the Du Page county farm undoubtedly will show a better return. But the men are proud of this 22 acre field because it's a product of their steady soil building work over a period of 10 years. A decade ago the soil in his hilly field was so poor that it would grow neither oats nor corn. A consistent program of crop rotation and lime and manure fertilization now is showing results. The men consider this year's corn crop from the plot the final justification of their work.

Expect 75 Bushel Yield.

All the corn in the vicinity of the farm is in excellent shape this season as a result of favorable weather conditions. In this 22 acre field the stalks are six to nine feet high and the ears are well shaped and of good size. The farm manager believes that if the weather remains favorable it will produce about 75 bushels to the acre.

As one of the men remarked yesterday, the field proves that a farmer can grow good quality corn on hilly land if he takes proper care of the soil. Ordinarily farmers prefer flat land for high corn yields, because there is too much variation in soil quality on hilly plots. This is due to the inevitable erosion of the valuable topsoil from the hills to the low places.

The farm manager was saying that when he first worked this field more than 10 years ago it was like trying to plow and harrow in a huge pot of glue because of the clay content in the soil. Since then the practice has been to keep it in clover almost every year. Two or three years it was planted in oats. The clover has been consistently plowed under in the fall.

Ready for Test.

After the 1939 season the men decided that the field was ready for a corn test, so in December, 1939 they manured it heavily and then covered it with manure again last spring before plowing. It produced a fair corn crop last year. Last December it got additional manure, a procedure repeated this spring with another spreading of fertilizer before plowing. This year's good crop is the result.

While chatting about this year's crop the farm workers also considered the subject of "corn firing." A discussion of this farm topic will appear in this space tomorrow.

3 KILLED, 3 INJURED AS INTERURBAN HITS AUTO WHICH BURNS

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 17 (AP).—An interurban train and an automobile crashed at a diagonal grade crossing near Mackinaw tonight, killing three high school students and injuring three others.

Four of the young people, who were en route to a roller skating party at Mackinaw dells, were hurled from the car as it rolled 280 feet into a pasture and caught fire. The dead were Rose White, 15 years old, and Marilyn Rankin, 15, both of Mackinaw; and Willis Hamblin, 17, of Danvers, owner of the car.

The injured, brought to a Bloomington hospital, were Evelyn Rankin, twin sister of Marilyn; Loren Gene Hamblin, 14, and Daris Hamblin, 15. The body of the Rankin girl and the burned but still living Loren Hamblin were dragged from the wreckage. The Hamblins were brothers and sister.

'BOMB' OUTSIDE CHURCH FOUND TO BE HARMLESS

Sergt. Frank Grady of the police bomb squad arrived and found that the package contained two small bottles. One was filled with a red colored liquid. The other resembled a small paste jar. Grady hurried back to the detective bureau laboratory. He conducted a series of tests. Then he announced: "Just water with a coloring in it."

JEWEL TEA NETS MORE DESPITE WAR PROBLEMS

Armstrong Cork Co. Reports Gain.

The European war and the armament program at home have created problems for Jewel Tea company, Inc., of Barrington, but profit in the 28 weeks ended July 12 was larger than in the corresponding period a year earlier, M. H. Karker, president, said in his midyear report to stockholders yesterday. Net income was $758,031, equal to $1.35 a share, compared with $733,761, or $1.31 a share, in the 1940 period.

are having increasing effect on the business of the company," Karker said. "The market price of green coffee is 77.35 per cent higher than a year ago, and the costs of many other items are increasing.

Prices Lag on Costs.

"It has not been practicable to raise selling prices as rapidly as costs have gone up. Government controls and priorities are affecting supplies of some items, but needs have been reasonably anticipated and substitute materials will be used where possible.

"The great demand for people by both the armed forces and industry has increased our rate of labor turnover. There were 4,123 employés on July, 12, compared with 3,716 at the same time last year."

Karker said that increasing price levels, expansion in number of operating units, and larger inventories because of probable delays in production and transportation have made more capital necessary for the company's operations. The company has called a meeting of stockholders Sept. 8 to vote on a plan to obtain 5 million dollars thru issuance of 50,000 shares of preferred stock.

Armstrong Cork Gains.

The Armstrong Cork company reported net profit of $2,492,281 for the first six months of 1941 from operations in the United States. After provision for tax reserves this was equal to $1.69 a share, H. W. Prentis Jr., president, said. In the first half of 1940 the company earned $2,114,655, or $1.42 a share.

Prentis reported that domestic sales for the six months reached $37,481,591, a new high, and showed a gain of 36 per cent over the corresponding period last year. He said that altho the company's net income increased only $377,626 over 1940, reserves for federal taxes were $2,918,749, compared with $455,000 one year ago.

Net profit of the company's foreign companies for the first half year, after all charges, was $155,895, against $133,574 a year earlier.

RIVET MACHINE GROUP NAMED IN TRUST CHARGES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 [Special].—The National Rivet and Manufacturing company of Waupun, Wis.; Chicago Rivet and Machine company of Cicero, Ill.; Edwin B. Stimpson company of Brooklyn; Penn Rivet corporation of Philadelphia, and Shelton Tubular Rivet company of Shelton, Conn., have been charged by the Federal Trade commission with violating the Clayton anti-trust act.

The FTC alleges that the companies leased, licensed, and sold their rivet-setting machines, or fixed prices, discounts and rebates for them, on condition that the lessees, licensees or purchasers would not use the machines for setting any other tubular or bifurcated rivets than those made by the rivet and rivet setting machine manufacturers themselves.

1941 Consumption of Oil Is Expected to Set Record

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—Because of expanding armament requirements, consumption of petroleum products in the United States is expected to be the highest in history for the full year 1941, and approximately 11.31 per cent above 1940, The Lamp, a publication of Standard Oil company [N. J.], said today.

Priorities Upset Steel Rolling; Civilian Orders Near Standstill

Cleveland, O., Aug. 17 (AP).—Placing of full priority control over all steel last week by the Office of Production Management is causing some concern over rolling schedules, the magazine Steel said today.

If mills must make frequent roll changes to handle armament orders first instead of combining them with nonarms work in a single rolling, output will be reduced sharply, the trade publication said. Steelmakers were reported to be booking virtually no civilian orders pending clarification of procedure.

Orders Are Refused.

"In practically all cases orders are being refused and steelmakers are faced with the task of reclassifying orders under the new regulations," the review said. "This is a tremendous task under best circumstances, and until provisions of the priorities order are understood clearly it cannot be undertaken effectively. Civilian users have been bombarding their usual supply sources with inquiries as to what can be done for them.

"In some cases mills refuse to enter orders even tentatively and in some instances suggest a waiting period of six to eight weeks before resubmitting the orders, on the theory that by that time the new plan will be working smoothly.

"In view of previous priority rulings it is believed material now in process for nondefense work, on which delivery would be after Sept. 1, may be allowed to proceed after the effective date of the order."

Week's Output Unchanged.

Last week's national steel ingot production was reported unchanged at 98 per cent of capacity. New England gained 3 points to 90 per cent and Detroit, 5 points to 94. Chicago receded a half point to 100 per cent; Cincinnati, 1½ points to 85½; and Cleveland, 3 points to 89½. Unchanged were Pittsburgh, 100; Youngstown, 98; Buffalo, 90½; Eastern Pennsylvania, 95½; Wheeling, 93; Birmingham, 90, and St. Louis, 98.

WAVES PRICE CLUB.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—A schedule of ceiling prices at the levels of Aug. 15 quotations probably will be imposed on anthracite within the next two weeks unless operators agree not to raise prices further, armament officials said today. Leon Henderson, head of the Office of Price Adiministration and Civilian Supply, had advised anthracite companies that prices should not be raised more, officials said, but no agreement was obtained.

ARGENTINA FACES BIG TRADE LOSS BECAUSE OF WAR

New York, Aug. 17 [Special].—C. C. Batchelder, president of General Electric, S. A., of Argentina, who is a visitor here, said today that Argentina is faced with the loss of 40 per cent of her foreign markets because of the war, and is confronted with a grave problem of economic readjustment.

The recently formed Argentine Trade Promotion corporation with offices in New York and Buenos Aires has been organized, he said, to direct the export to the United States of some 200 Argentine products which do not conflict with American manufactured goods.

"Argentina is trying to turn itself into an industrial and manufacturing nation," Batchelder said, "and has made considerable progress in the fields of textiles and metal working."

PROFITS SOAR.

Please send me information about Packard Motors and its building of Rolls-Royce motors. How has the company fared in the arms boom?
R. J. J.

Answer: Packard Motor Car company recently opened its new aviation plant to build 9,000 Rolls-Royce liquid cooled aircraft engines and parts for the British and American governments. The engine is the latest model of the Rolls-Royce Merlin which is used in British Spitfire and Hurricane fighting planes and in some bombers.

The aircraft engine project was financed by the two governments and involves an outlay of 35 million dollars for plant and equipment and 165 million for the engines. Packard will be paid on a cost plus fixed fee basis.

With a backlog of 200 million dollars worth of orders, largely for aircraft engines, Packard has participated substantially in the armament program. Profits have risen sharply on expanded sales, despite increased operating costs and taxes.

For the first half this year, net income was $1,251,694, equal to 8 cents a share on the company's 15 million shares of no par common stock. In the corresponding period of 1940, there was a net loss of $102,366. Earnings in the last five years follow:

1936	$7,053,220	$ .47	$ .45
1937	3,052,212	.20	.25
1938	*1,838,317	*.11	...
1939	545,867	.04	...

*Loss.

Packard has not paid a dividend on its stock since Oct. 11, 1937, but it has indicated it contemplates resuming payments this year if earnings are favorable. The company's dividend payments since its formation in 1909 have been interrupted by lapses in cash payments from 1911 thru 1915, in 1921, and from 1932 thru 1935.

Long known as a maker of expensive motor cars, Packard in 1935 inaugurated lower priced lines to broaden its market. It also builds marine engines and last year entered the aviation field.

5 PER CENT LEVY ON SALES URGED BY VANDENBERG

Manufacturers' Tax Is Proposed.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] today proposed a 5 per cent manufacturers' sales tax to raise about 1,250 million dollars in new revenues, and asserted there was substantial support for the proposal in the senate finance committee.

Sen. A. H. Vandenberg

The senator said that about 400 million dollars in new excise levies in the house approved $3,236,700,000 revenue bill involved discrimination and urged substituting a manufacturers' sales tax exempting food, clothing, and medicine in their stead. This would increase prospective yields 850 million dollars, he said.

"There has been a lot of propaganda spread around to the effect that a sales tax would hit the poor man hardest, but that isn't true," Vandenberg told reporters.

Cites Effect on Income.

He said studies indicated only 20 per cent of the average wage earner's income would be affected, if food, clothing, medicine, and services were not taxed.

Vandenberg said he was not proposing elimination of established excise taxes on such items as gasoline, cigarets, liquor, and beer, which he classified as special sales taxes. What should be eliminated, he said, were new nuisance levies imposed by the house bill. He said chief of these was a $5 use tax on automobiles, calculated to raise 160 million dollars.

He said congress ought to establish four basic forms of taxation—individual income, corporation, sales, and inheritance—simplifing the levies which applied to each.

Simplified Procedure Sought.

"Then," he said, "if we wanted to increase taxes it would be fairly simple to make a blanket raise of 10 per cent, say, in all categories. We would not have to go thru all of the complicated procedure of adjusting this tax and that tax."

Observing that the finance committee was almost certain to face a decision on the sales tax question, Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.] indicated such a proposal would not have administration support. He added, however, that several senators were inclined to obtain additional revenue that way.

George said the committee also would study a proposal of the United States Chamber of Commerce to impose a withholding or pay roll tax.

The chamber said such a tax would raise 2,000 million dollars, but George said he doubted sufficient revenue could be obtained to make the institution of such a levy worthwhile if reasonable credits were allowed to wage earners to pay for the necessities of life.

Threat of Vast Wire Service Tieup Fades

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Threat of a vast tieup in the telephone industry faded yesterday when the Association of Communication workers agreed in response to a request from federal conciliators, not to order a walkout pending action by a conciliation panel on its contracts dispute with Western Electric company.

Some 13 locals had authorized a strike because of the breakdown in negotiations with the company. Details of the union's demands and the company's position on them have not been disclosed.

Return at Tin Mill.

The Fairfield, Ala., mill of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company reopened after a shutdown Saturday because of a walkout by 550 men from the tinning department. The dispute was settled with acceptance by the CIO Steel Workers Organizing committee of an incentive wage scale offered by the management. The incentive plan was reported by the union to offer up to 20 per cent extra pay provided work reached certain standards.

At Allentown, Pa., members of the United Automobile Workers [CIO] local union voted acceptance of a new wage agreement, ending a week long strike at the Mack Manufacturing company's plant here, where army tank transmission and heavy duty trucks are being made.

Wage Increase Granted.

A spokesman said the new agreement, proposed by the United States conciliation service after a Washington conference between company and union representatives, entailed a general six cent an hour net wage increase for production and maintenance employés.

At New York, Joseph M. Jacobs of Chicago, general counsel for the United Wallpaper Craftsmen and Workers of North America [AFL], said negotiations with the Wallpaper Manufacturers Institute of America were deadlocked over the question of wages. The union has demanded increases of 10 cents an hour for men workers and 5 cents an hour for women.

SUGAR PRICE CEILING ORDER ASSAILED AS BLOW TO CONSUMERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Representative Fred L. Crawford [R., Mich.] declared today that the government's ceiling of 3½ cents a pound on raw sugar may produce "a most critical" situation in the territory between Chicago and the Atlantic.

Commenting on the decision of Leon Henderson of the Price Control administration to peg the top price of raw sugar, Crawford said:

"Henderson's unprecedented action was taken without consulting the industry and, it also appears, without having first fortified himself with the facts. Not only are continental sugar beet and cane farmers involved but also the entire Cuban sugar industry, but more particularly, the consumers of sugar."

He asserted that continental mills had insufficient sugar to supply the eastern United States for 90 days.

TREASURY HEAD TO ADDRESS BIG BANKER MEETING

Henry W. Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury; Senator Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and Brig. Gen. Leonard P. Ayres, director and coordinator of war department statistics, will be among the speakers at the 67th annual convention of the American Bankers association in the Stevens hotel Sept. 29 to Oct. 2. P. D. Houston, association president announced the convention's program yesterday.

P. D. Houston.

The four day meeting is expected to bring 5,000 bankers from all parts of the country to participate in the discussions. The convention will have national rearmament financing and hemispheric solidarity as its principal themes. The program, Houston said, will comprise two general sessions, a series of round table discussions, and the annual meetings of the four association divisions.

OPM PROPOSES BUILDING OF 25 LAKE ORE SHIPS

Cost Fifty Millions; Widens Controls.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—The Office of Production Management recommended to the maritime commission today that an emergency fleet of 25 Great Lakes iron ore boats be constructed at a cost of about $50,000,000 for delivery in 1943.

Officials said the additional craft would be necessary to move iron ore for the expanded steel program, and that a larger fleet ultimately may be necessary. The boats would be about 600 feet long, and have net carrying capacities of 12,000 to 13,000 long tons.

Widens Export Control.

The government added a number of commodities to those already under export control. The new items included practically all wood pulp, metals and manufactures, machinery and vehicles, rubber and manufactures, and chemicals and related products not previously listed.

Extend Priority List.

Mosquito bar netting, sewing machines, and all types of business machines were added to the priorities critical list. This list includes all items on which army and navy contracting officers may assign preference ratings automatically. In most cases the priority regulation means that army and navy orders must be filled ahead of civilian contracts.

CONCERNING A MOVE of IMPORTANCE to INVESTORS

The new name on this letterhead marks another milestone in the growth of this house, originally established in Richmond, Virginia, in 1820, as Gwathmey & Company.

The adoption of a new name, for a business as old as ours, affords an excellent opportunity for a restatement of our guiding policy and point-of-view, which we feel is more important to you than mere size or modern and efficient physical facilities.

Of our basic policies the keystone is this: "The Customer's Interest Must Always Come First." The practical application of this policy has resulted in many tangible advantages and increased services for the clients who deal with us. For instance, commission charges have been reduced to a minimum permitted by the Exchanges of which we are members; interest rates have been dropped to the lowest level in our history; and service fees of all kinds have been abolished — even for Custodian Accounts. Savings effected by an increase in our business, by elimination of waste and duplication of facilities have always been, and will continue to be, passed on to our customers in the form of increased service.

Through our offices in 91 cities, covering the country from Coast to Coast, a new and superior type of over-the-counter service has been established, resulting in the finding of broader and better markets for unlisted securities.

Realizing that our business has grown largely because partners, managers and staff alike have approached each investor's problem as an individual one, we shall continue to place more and more emphasis on this feature of our service, and as a corollary, to develop further our already outstanding research department, which we honestly believe to be second to none. At your service, too, is a large staff of expertly trained specialists in every phase of the investment business, which includes commodities from the field to the finished product.

The stability of our house is reflected not merely in its capital of more than $6,000,000, but also in the fact that for a period of more than a century it has weathered successfully every storm. Our strength as a national organization stems from our standing in each community which we serve.

As Manager in this city, I offer you the experience and facilities of our entire organization, plus my own knowledge of local requirements and conditions. Please consider this a most cordial invitation to visit our office, where you will find me and my staff ready to assist you with your investment problems to the extent, and only to the extent, you desire.

Sincerely yours,

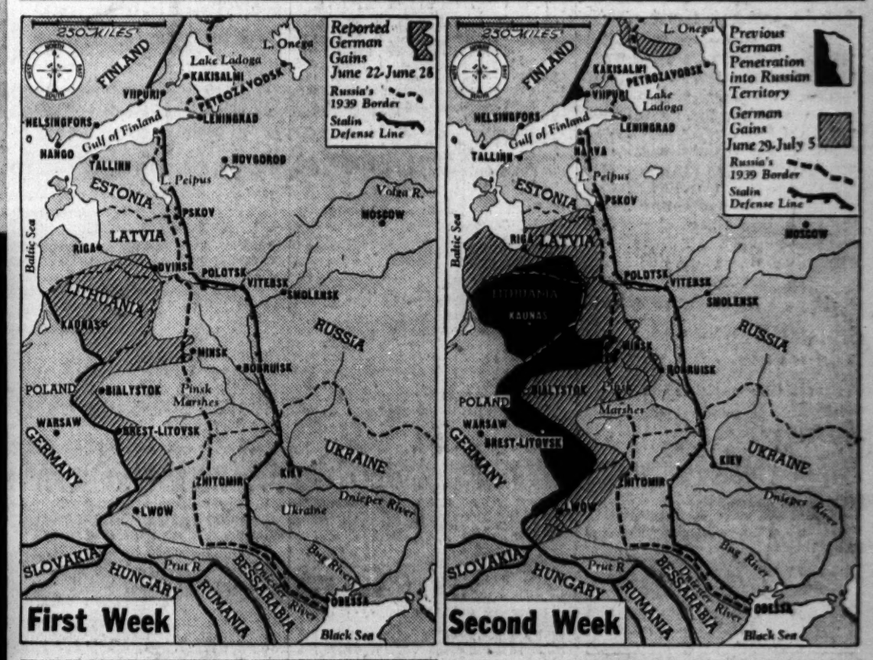
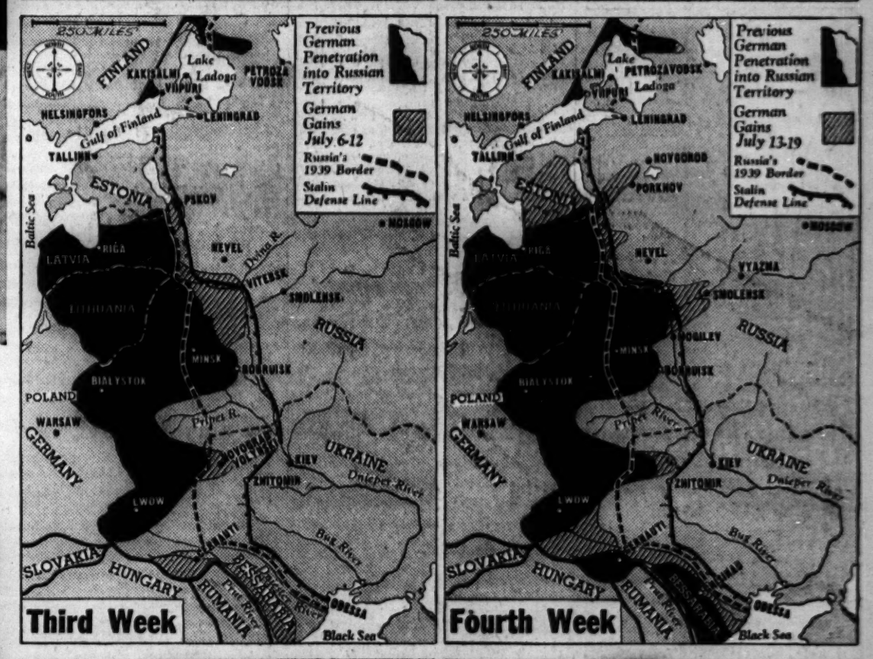
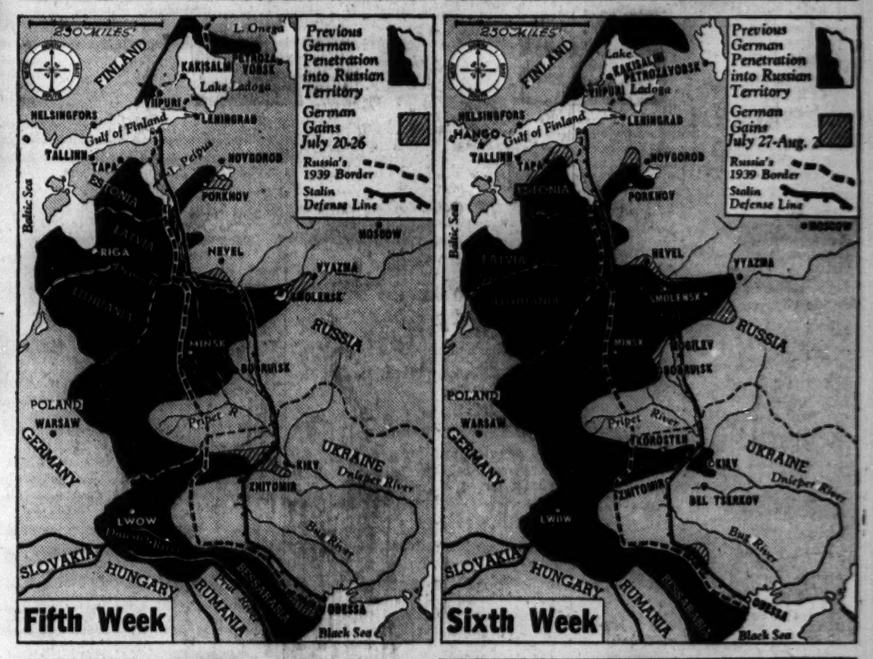
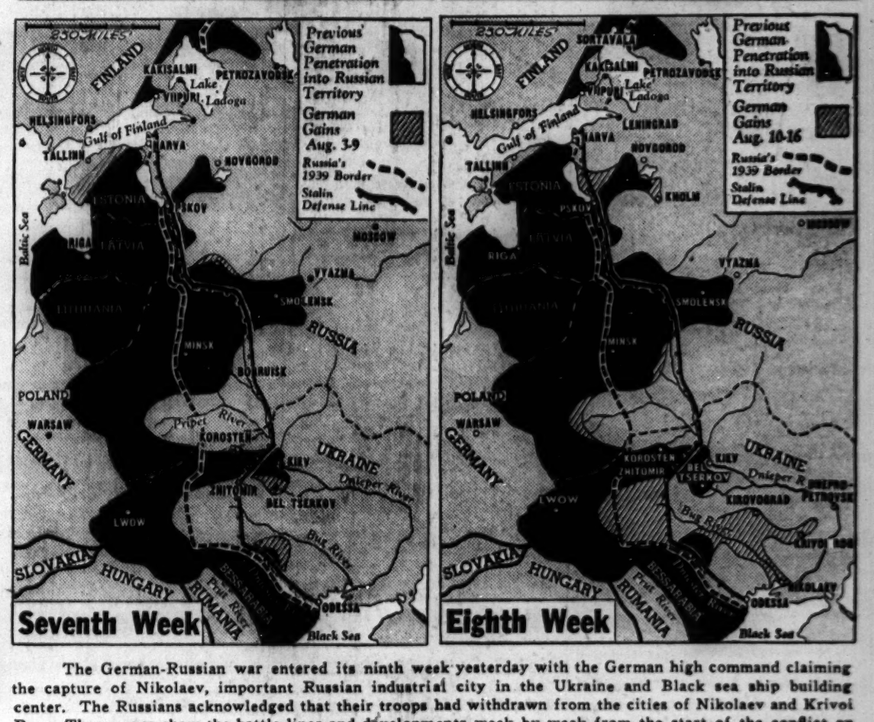
Eight Weeks of the War in the East









The German-Russian war entered its ninth week yesterday with the German high command claiming the capture of Nikolaev, important Russian industrial city in the Ukraine and Black sea ship building center. The Russians acknowledged that their troops had withdrawn from the cities of Nikolaev and Krivoi Rog. These maps show the battle lines and developments week by week from the start of the conflict on June 22 thru the eighth week ending Saturday. The principal fronts have been in the directions of Leningrad, Moscow, Kiev, and Odessa, Russian Black sea port.
